

GOVERNOR SURE TO VETO BILL

His Veto Message Will Probably Make Interesting Reading.

NO MEMBER AT LARGE

Asportionment Committee Will Try to Agree on 11 Congressional Districts.

NEWS OF THE LEGISLATURE

Madison, Wis., May 4.—The Hagemeister primary election bill concurred in by the assembly yesterday is in the hands of the senate enrollment committee and will not reach the governor until Tuesday as there will not be another session at which the bill
can be reported until Monday evening.

It is expected that the governor
will veto the bill and his veto message will probably be fully as interesting reading as his veto of the dog license bill.

For Eleven Congressmen.
The apportionment committee will meet on Monday evening to take up the congressional districts. Members of the committee say that the work will be dispensed with quickly and that the state will be redistricted into eleven districts, the congressman-
at-large plan not being formally considered.

The assembly this morning referred to the judiciary committee the bill which purports to grant to the president and chief engineer of any railroad the right to order small extensions and spur tracks but several of the members think there is a wood-chuck in the bill and it was sent back for further investigation.

Anti-Trust Bill Passed.
The Leuroot anti-trust bill passed the senate today. It provides that collections cannot be enforced for the purchase price of protection of a trust and that parties injured by a combination or trust can recover
treble damages.

The bill to encourage the beet sugar industry by exempting factories
from taxation went to third reading
in the assembly.

After a timely discussion the bill
providing that students at the state university other than law students should not be required to pay for material actually used was advanced to third reading in the senate 16 to 5.

The agricultural college bill appropriating $15,000 for this building and $36,000 for the engineering building and $21,000 annually for additional instruction was concurred in by the senate.

BEGINNING OF A NEW FIGHT.

Primary Bill Will Now Go Before the People of Wisconsin.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—The greatest legislative fight in the history of Wisconsin ended this morning when the assembly by a close vote concurred in the Hagemeister Primary Election bill. The famous bill now goes to the governor's office, and whatever may be its fate there it will mark the beginning of a new fight which will be before the people of the state instead of their representatives
in the legislature.

That the governor will veto the bill
is almost a foregone conclusion, though there are a few members who expect him to sign it.

Another long fight ended last night

when the assembly concurred in the senatorial apportionment bill. For a while it looked as if there was to be serious trouble over the bill, but it straightened itself out and the two most serious difficulties confronting the legislature came to an end with the day. The assembly made one amendment to the bill which the senate quickly concurred in and which improves the bill.

Adjournment Chances Better.

That bill being disposed of the chances of adjournment next week are better, but there is still the congressional apportionment to settle. It will be a physical impossibility to reconstitute the whole state in the two or three working days that will be left if the adjournment is taken May 11, but a congressman-at-large could be provided for or Milwaukee could be given an extra congressman, and if nothing at all was done it would result in the state getting along without the eleventh member, which it could do. The adjournment resolution has been laid over until Tuesday morning.

For Woman Factory Inspector.

The senators are ever gallant. They have passed the Martin bill providing for a woman factory inspector and the O'Neill bill putting a woman on the state board of control. The factory inspector may not be able to make trouble for anybody, but a woman on the state board of control will have a golden opportunity. When one is appointed things will be interesting for the other members.

Stationary Engineers Winning.

The stationary engineers appear on the point of winning out on their long fight for a state board of examiners. They have been fighting for such a board for fourteen years
and never before met with much encouragement. Now their bill has passed the senate and is on the assembly calendar with a favorable report. Before it has always died in the senate.

Repeal Dangerous Law.

A bill has been introduced repealing the law passed two years ago extending the time for the payment of railroad taxes and providing for their payment in February. The present law slipped through in a very mysterious manner and if the railroads
had taken advantage of it this year
the state would have been very short of cash at the opening of the legislature.

To Name All Farms.

The bill providing that all farms shall be named has been reinstated on the senate calendar with a recommendation for passage. There has been considerable opposition to this bill,
and it looked at one time as if the measure would fall by the wayside.
Farmers in several portions of the state object to the bill on the ground that a great amount of trouble would be entailed by this bill which provides for the posting of the names in a prominent place near the farm gate. The federal authorities having charge of the rural mail delivery are very anxious that the bill shall pass and say that the measure will be a great aid in securing the prompt delivery of mail in the country districts.

Tax Question Settled.

In the assembly the death of the advalorem tax bill settled the tax question for this session. Last evening the senate committee reported all of the remaining tax bills and asked that they be relieved from further consideration of them and that they be withdrawn from the file. In the assembly
the same course was taken this morning. This disposes of the remaining nine tax bills that were drawn by the tax commission. The list included bills to tax street cars, telegraph, telephone, express, sleeping car and car equipment companies. They were amendments to existing laws, and were unimportant in the light of the failure to pass new railroad tax bills

CHIEF HOGAN SENT TO SEE MARTIN; TAKES AN ULTIMATUM TO OSHKOSH

Bondsmen for the Negligent Contractor Notified to Finish the Work on Court and Other Streets,
or the City Will Do It for Them.

The city of Janesville has at last made a move to get the paving and curbing work on Court street, for which John Martin of Oshkosh has the contract, completed. Chief of Police Hogan left on the morning train for Oshkosh to serve notices on Martin and his bondsmen that unless the contract was completed at once the city would re-let the work and look to him and his bondsmen to make good the difference in the cost of the work.

Martin promised Aldermen Gilkey
and Fifield when they were in Oshkosh on Sunday that he was making arrangements to complete the work and would be here last Wednesday with a force of men to finish up his contract.

The aldermen were rather skeptical
at the time that the promise was made that he was not sincere in his statements and decided that if he did not show up they would take no more chances. As a precautionary move to protect the city they served notices on him and his bondsmen. It was with this idea in view that Chief Hogan went to Oshkosh today.

His bondsmen are reputed to be good for the amount of their bonds
so the city does not stand a chance of losing a dollar. There are however a number of private claims here against him that are liable to be very much reduced when the final settlement is made.

As is usual in contracts of this kind the street assessment committee allowed Martin to assign to the First National bank as collateral security all money, bonds and certificates that may be paid or issued by said city under the terms of the within contract, to the amount of 50 per cent of the contract price.

This Martin has done and there is still a balance unassigned to be used to finish up the street. Parties that claim to know what they are talking about say there is not enough coming to complete the work and pay the outstanding debts that are unsecured.

Martin claims that the cement curbing is what put him in debt. The estimated cost the combination curbing on Court street was in the neighborhood of seventy cents a lineal foot and his bid for the work was about forty-nine cents. He lost money on every foot of the curbing that was put in on this street.

Hook and Cummings of De Kalb, Ill., came up here this week to complete their work on the curbing and brought a force of men with them.
They found that Martin had not shown up and that there was no prospect of his completing the contract.
They returned home today. They claim that their account is unsecured
and that they will lose quite a sum
by this move on Martin's part.

While it is claimed that Martin's bondsmen are perfectly good and that the city will lose no money by reletting the contracts, the property owners on Court street are being put to a great inconvenience. The curbing is not completed, the street
crossings are torn up and no property owner can go on and do any private work in front of his property
until the work is finished.

The only thing that the city can be blamed for is the letting of the contract to a man of Martin's standing. He has had three other contracts for street work in this city in years past and there has not been one job completed in a satisfactory manner. There were other contractors who were known to be perfectly reliable whose bids were but a few dollars
higher than Martin's and his past record should have been considered in the letting of the contracts.

KNOWN THAT SEVEN LIVES ARE LOST

Relief For the Hungry and Homeless at Jacksonville Fla.—Work of the Great Fire.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 4.—Though sorely stricken, the homeless thousands of fire-swept Jacksonville were not crushed. When the sun arose this morning on the ruin wrought by the great conflagration plans were set on foot for the wiping away of all but the memory of the fire.

Blocks upon blocks of burned
homes, streets, littered with charred furniture, bedding and other household goods, firemen working like Trojans among the ruins, some searching for the dead and others tearing down cracked and threatening walls,
was the scene that presented itself
this morning.

While the work of demolition and rescue is being prosecuted a committee of citizens is hard at work devising means for the relief of the hungry and homeless. Many of those driven into the streets by the flames slept in vacant lots last night while others of the more fortunate found food and shelter in homes and business houses

in the city and suburbs that escaped destruction. Many tents have been raised on vacant lots in which are many of the sufferers.

Secretary of War Root has tendered the use of the barracks at St. Augustine to the relief committee.

It is known that seven lives were lost in the fire and others were reported missing.

BOY HAD BOTH OF HIS LEGS CUT OFF

Terrible Accident Late Yesterday Afternoon in the Northwestern Freight Yards at Beloit.

Beloit, May 4.—Charles Snow, the 8-year old son of Carlos Snow, fell beneath the wheels of a freight train
on which he was riding at four o'- clock yesterday afternoon and had both legs cut off.

The accident happened in the Northwestern freight yards near the old freight depot and it is supposed that the boy slipped in getting on or off
the side of a freight car.

He was drawn under the wheels and rolled over and over in the cinders for several yards.

The left leg was cut off at the hip while the wheels went over the right leg between the knee and the ankle.

The boy is very weak from the shock and the loss of blood and it seems impossible that he can live through the day.

MAY CORN OPENS WEAK

Chicago, May 14.—On lower cables
May corn opened weak this morning
the first figure being 54, being a decline of 1 1/2 over last night's close.
Few sales have been made. Phillips sent it down to 53 1/4, but the opening
price was regained in a few minutes.
It looks as though the more anxious shorts have succeeded in covering.
The great excitement that characterized the pit yesterday was absent during the first hour.

Stocks Opened Lower.

New York, May 4.—Stocks opened generally lower this morning and it looked as if the slump in the market was to continue. Union Pacific went to 113 1/2 showing a loss of 4
points over last night.

ONLY ONE GUEST AT EXPOSITION HOTEL

Man Complains of Inattention in Pan
American Hostelry While 286
Employees Are on Duty.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 4.—The joke of the Pan-American exposition is on the capitalists who built the mammoth Slater hotel, with nine acres of sleeping rooms, three miles of halls and a dining room to feed 5,000 persons. Yesterday 286 employees were on duty at the hotel. There was one guest, Mr. Wilson of New York, who humorously complained to the officers of inattention on the part of the servants. Mr. Wilson will go away today. The management is looking for some one to take his place.

GIRL FOUND DEAD IN A BADGER HOLE

Prosser, Wash., May 4.—With her hands and mouth stained with green from the grass and flowers she had eaten in her desperate hunger and with her features drawn in the dying agonies of thirst, the body of the five year old daughter of W. B. Matthews, former county commissioner, who lost
her way on the dreary wastes of Horse Heaven plains nearly a week ago, has been found by searchers. The child in her agony had crawled into a badger hole on the prairie and died.
From the appearance of the body the child had been dead about thirty-six hours, so for five days and nights she had been without food and water.

Barefoot when she left home, the little girl in her wanderings had bruised and cut her feet and gathered the tough prairie grass and wound it around them for protection. Beside her in the badger hole lay a bunch of flowers and grass which she had been eating.

FOUR CHILDREN CREMATED.

Left Alone for a Few Moments They Set House on Fire.

Muskegon, Mich., May 4.—Four children were burned to death at the farmhouse of John Wertman, six miles north of this city. Two of the little victims were visiting at the place
when they met their death. The dead are: Hannechey Kooi, aged 8 months; Jennie Kooi, aged 4 years; John Wert-
man, aged 4 1/2 years; Thomas Wert-man, aged 2 years. Little Jennie Kooi, daughter of a near neighbor, had wheeled the baby to the Wertman home, where she could play with the Wertman boys. The children were romping in the kitchen when Mrs.
Wertman walked to the well, a distance of 100 yards, for a pail of water. When she started back she noticed the house in flames. Despite her frantic efforts to rescue the children
they all perished.

PRESIDENT ADAMS BETTER.

To Resume His Place at the University Next Fall.

Madison, Wis., May 4.—At the convocation yesterday Dr. Birge announced that President C. K. Adams would resume his duties next fall. The announcement was greeted with cheers
by the students.

SURGEON PROVIDES BOY WITH TWO EARS

A Mother's Love and a Doctor's Skill Remedy a Defect in the Anatomy of a Child.

Chicago, Ill., May 4.—A mother's love and a surgeon's skill combined to remedy a defect in the anatomy of 3-year-old Paul Faehm which nature had overlooked.

In his native town of Aurora Paul's playmates used to wonder as to the reason why his head was always dressed like Little Red Riding Hood's.
The mother evaded inquiries upon the point as much as possible. It almost broke her maternal heart to have to answer that her darling boy
was born without ears.

By exercising infinite care and devoting many hours of the day to standing behind the boy she trained him to understand questions, the sound of her voice entering through the canal where the left ear should have been. There was no opening on the right side of the head, and when the canal on the left side closed
he was deaf.

The family physician, Dr. Catherine Slater, advised an operation. This was successfully performed by Dr.
Nicholas Senn at the Presbyterian hospital on April 9 last.

By lifting the skin from the base of the head, back of the point where the normal site of the ear would be,
carrying the flap forward and doubling it, and placing the folded skin in such a position as would quite simulate a normal aurial appendage, the surgeon provided the boy with two ears.

The closed canal on the right side was opened and both ear drums were found to be in good condition.

The new appendages at present do not possess the graceful outlines and regular depressions that are found in normal ears, but that will be remedied
by a third operation in a few days.

Gold wires of various lengths will then be inserted into different parts of the new skin formation. These wires will serve the same purpose as ordinary cartilage in the lobes, preserving the shape and curves of the ear.

Increase Duty on Steel.

London, May 4.—Replying to a question in the House of Commons yesterday afternoon Lord Cranborne, parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, said rumors had reached the government from various sources of the intention of the German government to increase the duties on steel. The question was asked by Sir Charles Edward Howard Vincent, Conservative.

OVATION IN TEXAS TO THE PRESIDENT

Same Warm Welcome He Has Been Receiving
All Over the South.

AT EL PASO TOMORROW

Houston, Austin and San Antonio Rivals in a Grand Demonstration.

MRS. M'KINLEY'S HEALTH GOOD

San Antonio, Tex., May 4.—Despite the fact that the presidential train did not arrive here until one fifteen this morning, quite a crowd had gathered at the depot to greet the distinguished travelers. The train was run onto a sidetrack immediately after its arrival and remained there until after breakfast.

Members of the party were surprised to hear that a report had been sent out that Mrs. McKinley was breaking down and that she had fainted on the steamer there. Mrs. Mc-Kinley not only did not faint, but she is enjoying unusually good health.

The train will arrive at El Paso on Sunday morning leaving there Monday noon when the invasion of Arizona and New Mexico will begin.

Reception at Austin.

Austin, Tex., May 4.—Out of Dixie
the presidential party traveled into the heart of the great southwest. After leaving New Orleans beautiful Bayou Teche the home of the Arcadians, and the waving rice fields of Western Louisiana were passed during the night and the new oil fields of Texas whirled by just at the peep of day, too early to be seen by the president.

Until 4:30 yesterday afternoon,
when Austin was reached, the train
passed in succession through the cotton belt of Texas, the rich agricultural region beyond the Brazos river,
known as Black Prairie, much wooded country and first glimpse of long-horned Texas cattle and picturesque cowboys on Western range horses.

Warmth of Welcome Continues

The president's reception on the Lone Star state was a continuation of the welcome he has received throughout the South. Every honor was shown him and his party and there was much enthusiasm. Governor Sayers and the other state officials met the president at Houston, the first stopping place inside the state, and accompanied him as far as Austin, the capital.

The feature of yesterday was the reception given the party at Austin, which like New Orleans, had never before had the honor of entertaining
the chief magistrate of the nation.
The city was profusely decorated
and in the evening there was a brilliant illumination of Congress avenue.

Austin never before held such crowds. They came from every direction, some hundreds of miles, and literally swamped the hotel accommodations of the city. It was estimated that over 20,000 visitors were here.
As the population of Austin is only 23,000 the tax upon its facilities can be imagined.

POPULATION OF LONDON.

Administrative County Shows 4,536,
034, an Increase of 308,717.
London, May 4.—The population of London, including the city of London and twenty-eight metropolitan boroughs, the whole forming what is termed the administrative county of London is now 4,536,034. This is an increase of 308,717, since the last census in 1891.

EASTMAN DEFENSE SCORES A POINT

Old Testimony Ruled Out—Judges Exclude Statements Made by the Grand Jury.

Cambridge, Mass., May 4.—After scoring another vital point today the defense in the trial of Professor Charles R. Eastman opened its case, only to be interrupted at noon by the sudden illness of one of the jurors.
When the day opened the two jurors
first announced their decision on the plea made yesterday by Attorney General Knowlton, to have admitted as evidence the stenographic report of Eastman's testimony before the grand jury. Judge Gaskill read the decision.
Without going deeply into the law that governed their finding the judges said
the report was not admissible for the reason that article 12 of the bill of rights of this state declares that no man shall be required to accuse or furnish evidence against himself. It has been the universal practice, the judges
continued, not to summon before a grand jury a man whom it was expected to indict. In this case this practice was violated, but that having been done there is no law or decision admitting a report of the defendant's statement before the grand jury as evidence against him now. The reading of the decision occupied more than half an hour, during which Eastman sat with his eyes fixed intently on the judges. He and every one else had expected another day of the prosecution, and when Attorney General Knowlton arose and without comment

or protest said "The government rests," everyone was much surprised.
There were in court at least a dozen government witnesses who had not yet been heard. Charles W. Bartlett at once began his speech for the defense.
He read from a typewritten statement his views of the law governing the case. This was in reply to a similar statement read at the opening of the prosecution. "The defendant committed no crime," he said. "The killing of Grogan was an excusable homicide.
The killing, the defendant claims, was done by misadventure or by accident.
If you find that the rim-fire revolver was exploded by Eastman without any intention of injuring Grogan, that the bullet struck Grogan and that Eastman struggled with Grogan to prevent him doing himself or Eastman bodily harm, then Eastman has committed no crime."

DIES TO ESCAPE A MUCH WORSE FATE

Suicide of Anarchist Chosen to Kill King of Italy--
He Feared Vengeance of the Reds.

Pittsburg, Pa., May 4.—Giovanni
Pieta, an Italian sculptor and anarchist, committed suicide here because he had been chosen by lot to kill the King of Italy, and, having refused to commit the crime, despaired of escaping
the revenge of the anarchists. The hospital ambulance was called to Pi-eta's boarding house at 9:15 o'clock and he died two hours later from a bullet wound in the head without recovering consciousness. Pieta, 25 years old,
came from Carrara, Italy, five years ago, shortly after his marriage. He first settled in Barre, Vt., and afterward worked at his trade of artistic marble-cutter in various American cities. He came to Pittsburg a year ago and boarded with Pietro Anzolintoron on Pennsylvania avenue. He was a good workman, but an enthusiastic anarchist, and gave a large portion of his earnings to further the cause.
When the Allegheny county coroner started to investigate the suicide he was told by boarders in the house that Pieta fired two shots. Inspection of the body showed that only one bullet entered the body. Pieta slept in an attic in which there were three other beds. Although it was 9 o'clock when he killed himself, it is understood that two other men were sleeping in the same room. Emma Goldman, the anarchist agitator, has been in Pittsburg several days, her arrival having been preceded by great activity and frequent meetings of the reds in their local groups. It is understood this activity was in a measure due to investigation of the cause of Pieta's delay in making some effort to fulfill the mission which he had been chosen to perform. Pieta knew this and, believing there was no escape from the vengeance of his fellow anarchists, killed himself. In an interview on the suicide Emma Goldman said Pieta had shot himself because he was despondent, believing anarchy could not defeat forces of law and order. Pieta had told her, she said, that life was not worth living under the present conditions.

Just Between Ourselves

What is so good as a drenching, soaking rain that sends its great drops deep into the bosom of the thirsting earth? Was nature's elixir of life ever more welcome than it was last Thursday afternoon? Our annual April showers on which proverb has taught us to rely for our May flowers, must have been side tracked and the hot dusty days had lengthened into weeks with no sign of relief. We needed rain and we longed for it.

A few weeks ago and we were sighing for sunshine and hot weather but when the combination came we found that there were other things to be desired. As each day dawned bright and serene with the glaring sun smiling down warmly at us, we scowled. The torrid winds tore our tresses from the restraining clutches of hairpins and hurled bushels of dust in our faces and we frowned. The birds ate up the grass seed which we had sown so carefully and we raged.

We swore that the weather clerk was an old fogey, that he was one of the ever present "knockers" who was doing all he could to thwart us in our fine plans for outdoor improvement. What good were all the excellent resolutions we had made since our duty had been pointed out to us at the Twilight club banquet? It was even no use to clean house when the wind blew the dirt into the carpet faster than man could beat it out. We had almost reached the point of desperation when we didn't care whether the rickety old porch was hidden under a vine or not, our dispositions were fast nearing that state when it is unsafe for our nearest friends to ask a civil question—and then the rain came.

Such a change! The furrows vanished from our faces, the tired feeling was gone like a flash and we hurried to doors and windows to watch the great splashing drops, we were once more in a mood to tolerate the presence of our fellow man. If we humans, whose comfort depends only indirectly on Mother Nature's whims, welcomed the shower with thanksgiving, with what anthems of rejoicing it must have been greeted in the plant world.

The grass blades seemed fairly to leap from the earth in welcome and one could see the leaf buds on the trees unfold. It was only a spring time shower, but it brought renewed vigor to man and plants, it freshened and purified the atmosphere and life grew sweeter, more wholesome and better worth living.

This is not such a bad old world, after all, is it, beloved? We are in different, careless, thoughtless, negligent, what you will, but deep down under all the worthlessness of the exterior is a firmly rooted desire for the best in life. The most of us only need a word of suggestion to set us in the right direction. Last year the tin cans and the ash heaps in our back yards, the waste papers which we threw on the public streets we considered our own business and it caused us no concern.

This year a little agitation in the women's clubs, a few speeches at a public meeting, a couple of prizes offered, and the interest of the hundreds of school children secured for school yard improvement and behold, a change as wonderful as that wrought by the rain of a few days ago. You may not have noticed it, but I have had my eyes open and I feel safe from contradiction when I assert that never in the history of Janesville has there been such a house cleaning in back yards.

The tin cans are no longer my own private affair. My neighbor's condemning eye is upon them and as I value his esteem the tin cans must go. The movement for town improvement is well started, and being one in which the reward is so abundant, so gratifying, so swift and so sure, once started, it will never be abandoned. We will do a great deal of talking about it this year and perhaps next, and then we will have done with words, and have time only for deeds. When we have fully accepted our mission of making Janesville the most beautiful city of homes in beautiful Wisconsin we will wonder that the subject ever had to be agitated. We will each do our share naturally and without comment.

Isn't it a pity that we always have to waste so much time in talking? So much energy is expended in persuading people to do the sensible and right thing. I never go to the theater that I don't feel 'he thrill of delight as I look over the audience of uncovered heads. Now my lady never thinks of such a thing as keeping on her hat and about two years ago what a fight she made against taking it off. She brought forward all sorts of excuses and all sorts of pressure had to be brought to bear before she would yield. The war of words continued, however, a few women made martyrs of themselves by showing the courage of their conviction and removing their hats and in the end lovely woman did what in her heart she knew she should have done in the first place.

The theater hat went, and now how senseless seems the long war which was waged against it. In spite of the many fears that coiffures would be awry and untidy, the audience of today is much more attractive than was the motley array of hats and bonnets.

Two years ago the woman who removed her hat made herself conspicuous and was admired. Today the woman who keeps on her hat in the theater when she is seated in front of other people makes herself conspicuous, betrays the fact that she is not a frequent patron and gets sworn at, inwardly at least. Not long ago, at a popular priced performance, I sat behind two radiant spring hats and as I bobbed and twisted and turned in an endeavor to catch a glimpse of both the hero's arms at one time I wondered how we ever stood it in olden times when the audience was one sea of millinery.

Speaking of the theater hat reform reminds me of two things that I want to say. The first is that Manager P. L. Myers is receiving much commendation for the rule which he is endeavoring to enforce concerning late arrivals. It is a little rough on those who come late not to be seated until the end of the act but the number of late comers grows fewer with each performance and the general effect is splendid. One gentleman who was not allowed to take his seat until the end of the first act of the Anna Held production said that although he had suffered by the rule he was strongly in favor of it and was glad to see it enforced. Its good effect has been very marked.

The second thing of which I am reminded is that there are many people who would like to see the theater hat reform extended to the churches and to all places of entertainment. Most people take added pleasure in a sermon, a lecture or a concert program if they can see the person who is instructing or entertaining them. The hat is a nuisance at any indoor gathering, especially in a church or hall where the seats are on a level. It only needs a little organized effort to banish it as effectually from the church as it has been from the theater. Let a few prominent women in each church pledge themselves to uncover their heads during the service and almost before you know it the reform will be accomplished. Methinks it would speedily be followed by an increase of Christian grace among church goers.

There are two young people in the city who enjoyed an advance edition of Thursday's rain. With the coming of spring they began spending their evenings on the steps of the old high school building, the time honored trysting place for lovers. So oblivious were they of everything but each other on a certain evening not long ago that they did not notice some mischievous urchins nor did they hear the conspiracy which was perfected around the corner of the building. No sound reached their ears, filled with the melody of love words, as the small boys climbed the fire escape, found a window which they could open and clambered in over rows of potted plants without breaking so much as a leaf. It was the old story. A pall of ice cold water falling through the air, a pair of drenched lovers with ardor cooled, and Cupid's stock was plunged far below face value.

It is said that two well known young men had a duel with fists the other evening near the same historic spot as was the scene of the above episode. A fair maiden's hand was the stake.

Sealed proposals will be received at the office of Evans & Morris, architects, 429 Hayes block, until Wednesday, May 8, 1901, for carpentry work on Janesville Canning Co.'s building. Bids to be opened at eight o'clock. The plans and specifications can be seen at above office.

Rare Surgical Operation.
A surgical operation was performed on Jackson Vickerman of Milton at the Palmer Memorial hospital yesterday afternoon by Dr. W. H. Palmer assisted by Dr. George Fifield. Mr. Vickerman has been at the hospital for some time for treatment for cancer of the bladder and the operation which consisted of cutting an opening into the bladder and draining it, was performed with the hope of prolonging his life. The operation, which was a delicate one, was successful and Mr. Vickerman was doing very nicely today.

AMUSEMENT NOTES

Stuart Robson supported by a very clever company appeared before a fair sized and appreciative audience at the Myers Grand last evening in the wholesome old English comedy, "She Stoops to Conquer." The play was a welcome change from the roaring farce comedy and vaudeville of the present day and while perhaps would not appeal strongly to the popular taste, it afforded a real treat to the greater portion of the audience. Curtains calls and applause were frequent. There is a quaint and delightful flavor to the humor and much of its charm lay in the fact that it is so widely different from the usual run of stage productions. The epilogue, with which it closed, was especially unique and was admirably done. The entire production was correctly and handsomely staged and costumed.

With all due deference to Mr. Robson and his great talents, the honors of last evening were won by his company rather than by himself. He was very evidently not in his best form and did not seemingly take much interest in his part. The part of Tony Lumpkin is rather limited in its possibilities but there were times last evening when Mr. Robson revealed flashes of his brilliancy. He was ably assisted in the broad comedy of the play by Miss May Ten Brook, who was irresistibly funny and clever in the part of the doting and irritable mother.

John E. Henshaw, who with Miss Ten Brook, won high honors here a few years ago in "The Passing Show" played the young hero in a very fascinating and artistic manner and his beloved who masqueraded as a bar maid in order to win him, was cleverly and bewitchingly played by Miss Eleanor Barry. Miss Ellen Mortimer was charming and George Holland, Brimsley Shaw and Clifford Leigh deserve special mention for creditable work.

That witty jingle, "The Burgomaster," is announced for a return engagement at the Myers Grand Thursday, May 9. This musical comedy is the brainy result of Frank Pixley's and Gustav Luder's clever pen, and is the best musical comedy that has ever been presented here in years as its many clever sayings is still town talk, and of the music—everybody has a good word to say, as it is fluent, graceful and melodious, without being of the class catalogued as "tinkling," and like the Kentucky Mint Julep, it has strength as well as sweetness. The comedy lays but little claim to plot, but is presented for the sole purpose of introducing laughter, beauty and song, corraling refreshing elements of gorgeous scenery, dazzling costumes, jolly nonsense, entrancing music, brilliant ebulliences, and a dashing chorus of youthful forms, with beautiful faces and flashing eyes, the peer of any organization that has appeared here in years. From week to week this merry melange has been refreshed and brought up to date, or figuratively speaking, to the minute, by the introduction of new specialties, new music, new faces, and an entire new outfit of scenery and costumes, and judging from its last appearance here, it is most timely to quote one of the many catchy phrases of the comedy, "You'll have to hurry," providing you wish to reserve the choice seats, as a packed house will surely greet this merry organization's return here.

A. H. Wilson in the romantic comedy written by Sidney R. Ellis "The Watch on the Rhine" will be at the Myers Grand on Saturday evening May 11. The play has received high praise in the eastern press and Mr. Wilson has scored a distinctive success.

F. B. Sumner has been called to Milwaukee by the death of his father.

MUSICAL TREAT OF PRESENT SEASON

Concert To Be Given by the Band and Orchestra of School for the Blind Tonight.

The concert to be given by the band and orchestra from the State School for the Blind at the Y. M. C. A. auditorium this evening, will be one of the musical treats of the season. The excellent program of the orchestra assisted by Daniel Roberts, barytone soloist, will be preceded by a band concert.

There are several reasons why the large auditorium should be packed to its fullest capacity this evening. In the first place the excellence of the orchestra is too well known to need any word of recommendation and the merit of the entertainment will be of such a high order as to merit a liberal patronage. The program will be an excellent one and every one who attends the concert will receive more than their money's worth.

Moreover there is a deeper and more significant reason why the orchestra and the band should be liberally patronized. Both musical organizations are composed of blind students who devote much of their time to music. It is due to their individual efforts that these organizations exist within reach of our city and the musicians from the school have always been very generous in responding to calls made on them by churches and societies. They deserve encouragement and the people of Janesville should take the time and the little money necessary to give it especially when the concert will bring them such ample returns for both. The musicians from the school are not making any demand on your sympathies, still the fact remains that they have a peculiar claim on your kindness. Recognize that claim and help the boys on in their enterprising and painstaking efforts by attending their concert tonight.

The orchestra of sixteen pieces, under the direction of H. W. Adams, was never in better condition to furnish a high grade concert and program of solos, duets, quartets and orchestra selections, will be one of the finest ever given in the city. The band is composed of twelve members and Walter Getzinger is their leader.

The members of All Souls church will hold a business meeting at the church on Saturday evening May 4, 7:30 p. m. All members are urged to be present.

Second Time on Earth

No Boils Nor Carbuncles Now—A Good Blood Medicine.

"I became convinced of the merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla when I took it myself as a blood purifier. So, when my husband had boils and carbuncles I urged him to take Hood's and the result was that when he had used but one bottle the boils had nearly all disappeared. He continued the use of the medicine and after taking two bottles he was completely cured, and, as he expressed it, felt as if he was on earth for the second time. He has never had any boils since. We take Hood's as a spring medicine and gladly recommend it." Mrs. A. E. STAYSA, Yonkers, N. Y.

Scrofula from Birth.

"I have found Hood's to be the greatest blood purifier I ever took, and I have tried many medicines. I was a sufferer with scrofula from birth. My eyes were so badly affected I would be almost blind for a week at a time. My neck began to swell so that I could not breathe freely. Medicines failed to do me any good until I began taking Hood's Sarsaparilla. Today I have excellent health and my eyes give me very little trouble. I owe it all to Hood's, which I recommend to all suffering from any disease of the blood." Miss KETIE MCGUIRE, Silver Creek, Ky.

That Tired Feeling.

"I cannot say too much for Hood's Sarsaparilla as a remedy for that tired and worn out feeling one has in the spring. As a strength builder and appetite creator it has no equal." Mrs. L. B. WOODARD, 285 Ballou Street, Woonsocket, R. I.

AUTOMATIC DEVICE TO RUN A TRAIN

There is a small automatic device being tested on several of the passenger trains on the Milwaukee road between Milwaukee and Chicago which, according to experienced railroad men, is a "little wonder." It is perfectly round and not larger than an average size hanging clock, its diameter being 10 1/2 inches, and it possesses the power when in position and set, to announce to an engineer that he is approaching a station for which he has orders and should stop.

If the engineer fails to heed the notification it will stop the train itself. This device is known as "the safety train order signal," and it seems to be all that its name or its inventor claims for it.

The usefulness of the little machine lies chiefly in the fact that it is capable of absolutely preventing the disregard of train orders, meeting points with other trains, or any other orders issued to engineers or conductors requiring a reduction of speed or a full stop, be it for railroad crossings drawbridges, bad places in the track or any thing else. To accomplish this the machine first gives a warning of the approach of his train to regular meeting points, or to points named in his orders where other trains are to be met or passed.

Then it automatically applies the air brakes and stops the train itself at a safe distance from the place designated on his order or on the time table, in case the engineer neglects to heed the warning given by the patent signal. It also indicates distances traveled by train and tells in darkness, fog or storm, where he is when familiar landmarks cannot be distinguished.

Furthermore it automatically gives a signal or disorder alarm in case the device should get out of order without the knowledge of the engineer, and when he might be relying upon its watchful mechanical intelligence "to run the train for him."

Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. Beloit Took the Meet.

Too much Merrill proved disastrous to the purple in the Northwestern-Beloit dual track meet at Sheppard field yesterday, Beloit winning by 61 to 51 points. Out of a total of 61 points scored by Beloit, Merrill secured 23. He entered seven events, getting first place in four of them and one second. In fact Merrill was the whole thing, and it was his ability that retrieved the defeat which Beloit received at the hands of Northwestern last year. Merrill's success was confined to the sprints, with the exception of one shot put, in which he won first.

School Concert May 7.

The several grades of the Adams school are to give a concert in the High school auditorium on Friday evening, May 17th, for the benefit of raising funds to pay the balance on the piano purchased some time ago. There still remains the sum of $160 unpaid and through the united efforts of the entire school it is hoped that the required amount can be raised.

The talent which will make up the program have all donated their services for the occasion. Among them are Mrs. J. B. Day, Robert Kanouse, the well-known baritone of Madison, and the quartet from the Baptist church. There will also be a chorus by thirty or forty school children, a drill by other children, and various other numbers not yet fully decided upon. A small admission fee will be charged.

A. L. McIntosh and Louis Levy were in Edgerton yesterday.

Teachers Visit Evansville.

About fifteen of the local school teachers went to Evansville on the six o'clock Chicago & Northwestern train this morning to attend the spring meeting of the Rock County Teachers' association, which was held in that city today. The program was unusually fine and interesting, and was well carried out.

A Sprained Ankle Quickly Cured.—"At one time I was suffering from a severe sprain of the ankle," says Geo. E. Cary, editor of the Guide, Washington, Va., "After using several well recommended medicines without success, I tried Chamberlain's Pain Balm, and pleased to say that relief came as soon as I began its use and a complete cure speedily followed. This remedy has also been used in my family for frost bitten feet with the best results. I cheerfully recommend its use to all who may need a first-class liniment." Theater Party Last Night.

The theater party which occupied one of the lower boxes at the Myers Grand last evening, at the invitation of Miss Amy Bowles, the winner in The Gazette's contest, included Miss Bowles, her mother, Mrs. C. E. Bowles, her sister, Miss Melbie Bowles, and her friends, Mrs. James Waddle, Mrs. Harry Garbutt, and Miss Abbie Atwood. Miss Atwood was the teacher who won second place in the contest by which Miss Bowles was declared to be the most popular school teacher.

Cucumbers Sent to Beloit.

A local grocery firm received an order by telephone today from a prominent lady in Beloit for four English cucumbers to be sent to her by express. Including the express and telephone charges the four cucumbers cost her at least $1.15 yet it is not the first time she has bought them in the same way. Indeed it is no unusual thing for private orders of fancy groceries to be sent by express from this city to Beloit families. No wonder Beloit is afraid of the inter-urban railway.

Ladies who have used Maple City Soap will testify to its merits.

VICTORY WAS WON BY LOCAL SCHOOL

Appleton High School Met Defeat in the Joint Debate Held in This City Last Evening.

The Appleton high school met defeat as a result of its challenge to the Janesville high school to meet in joint debate. The victory was won by the local school at the high school building last evening, the judges standing two to one in favor of the representatives of the Janesville school.

The judges were E. D. Coe of Whitewater, Assemblyman E. Ray Stevens and Ernest Warner, both of Madison. It took them some time to reach their decision, which was finally announced by Mr. Coe. Judges and audience agreed that the Appleton debaters were superior in style and presentation of thought but that they failed in argument. The Janesville debaters excelled in forceful argument but were comparatively weak in oratorical power.

The attendance was very small and the debate did not open until 8:30 o'clock. The question for the debate was "Resolved, That China should be partitioned," and the visitors spoke on the affirmative. Both sides strengthened their arguments by the use of charts and maps. Holbrook Stark of Appleton opened the debate and introduced his side of the question with referring to history of Assyria, Greece, Egypt and other great nations in the past that have been partitioned. These nations fell because of corruption and a weak, corrupt, tyrannical government is the cause of the downfall of China. There have been twenty-one insurrections and riots since 1851 and the utter weakness of the government makes it the duty of the nations to overthrow it.

Frank Holt opened the negative side of the debate and argued that one power should not obtain control over another. Every railroad and factory in China is due to the open door and if China is partitioned the open door policy will be done away with and this would be a great loss to Great Britain and the United States. To keep the open door the integrity of China must be maintained.

In answer to this statement Arthur Kuehnstedt of Appleton said that maintaining the integrity of China will not solve the difficulty. There are only two ways one by partitioning, the other by a sudden spread of Christianity. A pure, strong, able government is the one to be sought after but the Chinamen could never acquire such a government. There are many foreigners in the country. The people of one province are unable to understand those of another. They have no interest in common. China is not fit to govern itself and an attempt to form a different central government would cause a revolution. Partitioning would save life.

Harry Kirkland was effective in his quiet forceful presentation of his arguments. Partitioning is wrong in equity. China has been treated unjustly by foreigners. Anarchy and rebellion would follow the partition of China. Any plan to weaken Chinese authority would be treacherous and would provoke discord and riot. The attempt to partition China would involve all of Europe in a general war into which the United States might be drawn.

William Van Heuklon made the closing argument for the affirmative and asserted that the Chinese would welcome any change that would better their conditions. China has utterly failed in the functions of government. Russia is after the control of all Asia. Three fourths of Asia belongs to Russia and foreign rule of China is inevitable.

Walter Smith followed and advocated the restoration of the emperor. He would be hailed with delight by the great mass of the people. Any attempt at partitioning would result in revolution.

The rebuttal speeches were made by Walter Smith of Janesville and William Van Heuklon of Appleton. Both were excellent and Smith's rebuttal was the best speech of the debate. Each speaker on the debate was allowed ten minutes with three minutes for rebuttal.

"Children Love Mrs. Austin's Wheat Food, because it tastes good, better than oatmeal and easily prepared. Ask your grocer for it."

Shot in the Shoulder.

James Mayne, the young son of Prof. D. D. Mayne was accidentally shot in the left shoulder by a bullet from a twenty-two caliber target rifle in the hands of one of his companions on a hunting excursion at Spring Brook.

James and two of his young friends were riding around in a boat and had the rifle with them. They had made one or two attempts to shoot birds and neglected to lower the hammer of the rifle. One of the boys picked up the gun to shoot at a bird in a tree and touched the trigger before the muzzle of the gun was clear of his companion. The gun was discharged and the ball lodged in Young Mayne's shoulder between the neck and the joint. His companions were very much frightened and started for home with the injured boy and his parents were notified. Drs. Pember and Fifield were called and removed the ball which was lodged in the muscles of the shoulder. The young man will be laid up for a short time with a sore shoulder. It was a fortunate thing for him that the ball did not go a few inches lower.

DOINGS OF THE LAW MAKERS.

ILLINOIS.
Friday, May 3.
Governor Yates will withhold his signature from the teachers' pension bill until the members of the Chicago Teachers' Federation are given an opportunity to give an expression of their approval or disapproval of the measure.

MICHIGAN.

Friday, May 3.
No one appeared here to protest against the signing of the so-called "Ripper" bill amending the city charter of Detroit so as to direct Mayor Maybury of the power to control the city patronage. However, Governor Briggs will not sign the measure for several days, and it is possible that he will veto them, despite the fact that he has been ready to favor them. The house struck out all after the enacting clause in the bill to prohibit pharmacists from working more than ten hours in every twenty-four.

McKinley in Lone Star State.

Austin, Texas, May 4.—Out of Dixie the presidential party traveled into the heart of the great Southwest. After leaving New Orleans yesterday beautiful Bayou Teche, the home of the Acadians, and the waving rice fields of western Louisiana were passed during the night and the new oil fields of Texas whirled by just at the peep of day, too early to be seen by the President.

At 10:30 o'clock last night the party left for San Antonio, famous for its Alamo and its Spanish missions, where this morning was spent.

Smallpox in Kankakee.

Kankakee, Ill., May 4.—Alec Young, paymaster and stockholder of the Sincal Construction company, who is supposed to have been suffering from measles, was pronounced to be sick with smallpox by Dr. Johnson, president of the state board of health. His boarding-house, with its twelve inmates, was quarantined. Eighty-men in this quarry, mostly negroes, have been exposed.

Ed's Butler at Death's Door.

New York, May 4.—Miss Etta Butler, the mimic, who has been appearing in the "Prima Donna," at the Herald Square theater, is critically ill at her home here from peritonitis. She underwent an operation yesterday. Miss Butler came east two years ago from San Francisco and scored a success.

Must Have More Cardinals.

New York, May 4.—The Rt. Rev. James E. Quigley, bishop of the Roman Catholic diocese of western New York, is quoted in a Buffalo special to the Tribune as saying that he expects that within twenty-five years there will be at least half a dozen more cardinals in the United States.

Killed by a Mob.

Selma, Ala., May 4.—In retaliation for the killing of Deputy Sheriff Edwards, a mob invaded the negro quarter and shot to death Ed Mays and Bobbie Dawson. The only excuse offered for the killing is that those negroes had harbored the man who killed Edwards.

HOW RUSSIANS KNOW OF US.

Mrs. MacGahan Spreads American News in Land of the Czar.

Russian affairs are of interest to the people of the United States, and it is quite possible that we Yankees furnish matter of reflection to the subjects of the czar. If the Russians know much about our affairs, it is due in a very large measure to a certain energetic Russian woman who resides in this country, and who sends letters concerning us to the Russian papers. She is Barbara Elagina MacGahan, and she is the widow of Januarius Aloysius MacGahan, the famous war correspondent.

Although Mrs. MacGahan is a native of Russia, she considers the home of her deceased husband her own and resides in America. She is the American correspondent of one of the most influential papers of Russia, the Russkaya Viedomost of Moscow. She also contributes to other Russian magazines and newspapers and has probably done more to familiarize the subjects of the czar with America and its institutions than any other living person.

Mrs. MacGahan has had a most interesting career. She was born about 50 years ago, the daughter of a wealthy Russian landowner. She received her first education at home, and afterward at a high school for girls. Losing both her parents, she went to live with a married sister and for years spent the life of a careless, frivolous society girl. Like many Russians of high class she learned two or three languages besides her own; the knowledge standing her in good stead in after years.

In the fall of 1871, while on a visit to the Crimea, she met Mr. MacGahan, a young war correspondent of the New York Herald. They were married in 1873, and thereafter Mrs. MacGahan was the constant companion of her husband in his dangerous and exciting work. She was with him in Spain during the Carlist uprising, in Russia, France, Turkey, Romania and in other parts of the world. She saw much active warfare and had experience in nursing the wounded.

While assisting her husband, who died in Turkey in 1878, Mrs. MacGahan gained much experience as a writer. Since then she has acted as correspondent for many papers in Europe and America, principally Russian. Her only child, a son, Paul MacGahan, is an electrical engineer in Pittsburgh.

Biliousness is a condition characterized by a disturbance of the digestive organs. The stomach is debilitated, the liver torpid, the bowels constipated. There is a loathing of food, pains in the bowels, dizziness, coated tongue and vomiting, first of the undigested and partly digested food and then of bile. Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets allay the disturbance of the stomach and create a healthy appetite. They also tone up the liver to a healthy action and regulate the bowels. Try them and you are certain to be much pleased with the result. For sale by Peoples Drug Store and King's Pharmacy.

COMMON PROPERTY

Public Praise is Public Property—Janesville People May Profit By Local Experience.

Grateful people will talk. Tell their experience for the public good. Janesville citizens praise Doan's Kidney Pills. Kidney sufferers appreciate this. They find relief for every kidney ill. Read what this citizen says:

Mr. E. T. Fish, of 355 Racine St., proprietor of the Fish Dry Line, says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell, injured my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull, aching pain across the loins. It never let me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and had myself thoroughly examined under the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were sound, but as the pains existed when I happened to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such troubles I procured a box at the People's Drug Co.'s store, and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them."

COLD IN HEAD

Published by authority of the Common Council of the City of Janesville, Wisconsin.

Office of the City Clerk, Janesville, Wis., May 2, 1901.

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

Notice is hereby given that the following is a copy of a proposed ordinance introduced at a regular meeting of the common council of the City of Janesville, held at the council chamber, in said city, on the 25th day of April, 1901, and that said ordinance will be considered and acted upon by said common council at a regular meeting thereof, to be held in said council chamber on the 13th day of May, 1901, at 8:30 o'clock P. M.

A. E. RADGEM, City Clerk.

An Ordinance to provide for the issue and sale of certain bonds for city library buildings and for the annual tax levy to pay for the same.

The mayor and common council of the City of Janesville, do hereby ordain as follows:

Whereas, the introduction of the common council is expedient and necessary that the city of Janesville raise money to pay for the erection and construction of a city hall, and the purchase of a site for the same and the purchase of a site for a library building, as provided in a meeting of the common council held April 19th, 1901, therefore,

Section 1. The mayor and city clerk be and they are hereby authorized and directed to prepare, execute and issue one hundred and thirty bonds of said city, in the sum of $500.00 each, and to be used in the erection and construction of said hall, the purchase of a site for the same and the purchase of a site for a library building as above set forth.

Section 2. Said bonds shall bear an appropriate name, indicating the purpose of their issue, be countersigned by the mayor and city clerk, attached, signed by the mayor and city clerk, showing on their face the amount of indebtedness of said city, the amount of the assessment of the taxable property therein for each of the five years next preceding the issue, and the average amount thereof, and shall recite the fact that the city has provided for the collection of a direct annual tax sufficient to pay the interest thereon and also the principal and principal within twenty years after the date of issue of said bonds.

Section 3. The mayor of said city is hereby authorized and directed to negotiate and sell said bonds and also to accept and deliver the same to the principal and to the city clerk, and when sold to pay over the money received therefor to the city treasurer to be used in the erection and construction of said hall, the purchase of a site for the same and the purchase of a site for a library building as above set forth.

Section 4. An annual tax shall be levied upon all the taxable property in said city, and the same shall be used to pay the interest on said bonds and also the principal and principal within twenty years after the date of issue of said bonds.

Section 5. This ordinance shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage.

OPPORTUNITIES.
"There goes an opportunity, and it is the second one that has gone by today."

The speaker was a clean faced, bright eyed young man who stood at the corner of the street talking to a friend.

A man with a grip, hurrying to the train, had just left them. His hasty "good bye" had called out the remark about opportunity, and when the young man said to his friend:

"Tom has struck it rich. Went west five years ago with nothing, and has made a fortune. Said if I would go back with him he would set me up in business and stay by me."

"Well, why didn't you go?"

"Oh, I couldn't leave home now on mother's account. You know I'm the mainstay of the family since father died, and I can't make very many plans, but it seems to me the opportunities of life are wonderfully thick when a fellow can't accept them."

This young man, handicapped by circumstances, represents a limited class of people, who are obliged to see opportunities go by, without the privilege of improving them. They are the exception, however, and not the rule.

The average young man, and the average young woman, miss the opportunities of life, not because of adverse circumstances, and not because they don't come their way, but because they fail to see them, or seeing them, they lack the ability and energy to grasp them.

It is the common thing in the world to hear a young man say, "If I had that boy's chances, you bet I'd be rich," or "If I had that boy's opportunities, I would have an education."

The boy really believes what he says, and yet the chances are that he would be about what he is under any circumstances.

The prizes of life are not very evenly distributed, but it isn't for lack of opportunity, half as much as it is for lack of ability to see and grasp the chances as they go by.

A great many young men are possessed of the notion that luck, and good fortune, have much to do with the successes of life, when the fact is that these elements hardly enter into the consideration at all.

The young man who possesses an ambition to have a well developed body, takes up physical exercise that produces muscular development. In athletic sports, he is always in demand, because he has improved the opportunities that his associates have neglected. He passes them in the race of physical endurance, not because of unusual opportunities, but because he grasped the means at hand.

If his ambition is to have a well stored mind, he bends every energy to the accomplishment of that purpose and no obstacle is too difficult to surmount.

He makes opportunities of every day experience, and with the same surroundings passes scores of other young men in the race.

When he is ready to take his place in the ranks of a chosen profession, opportunities for advancement are not lacking, because he possesses the equipment necessary for intelligent work and the ability to use it.

If he has a genius for business and commercial life, he soon discovers that the men who win in this field of busy activity are at the front, not because of luck or good fortune, but because of preparation for, and devotion to, the one line of work, selected for a life work.

He notices that this class of men are absolutely honest, and that great interests are entrusted to them because of the confidence inspired by integrity.

He is impressed with the fact that with their honesty they possess tact, good business judgment, tireless energy, and all the requirements that contribute to success in business. And so he studies men and conditions as well as goods and the markets, until he masters the situation, and opportunities come to him unsought, because the supply of this class of men is never equal to the demand.

The opportunities of life are seldom lacking, in any department of the busy work shop of life, but a shortage of the right kind of material to fill them is frequently apparent.

Every channel is crowded with common workers. People who lack an independence of thought and action, and who have depended on the guiding hand of some other brain so long that involuntarily they become a part of the inanimate machinery about them.

Faithful workers, but time servers. People who wouldn't recognize an opportunity if it was labeled and hung up in front of them.

They are frequently passed in the struggle for every day existence, by men who are forging to the front, surrounded by the same opportunities, but possessing a broader vision and an intelligent grasp of the situation.

The man who is drawing the largest salary of any man in the world today, worked out his own destiny, from the delivery wagon, through the scrap pile, to the laboratory and out to a million a year, with the same opportunities that thousands of his associates enjoyed.

The prizes of life are not lost through lack of opportunity, but they are lost through lack of ability to recognize and use them.

In prosperous times like the present, average ability, in every line of work, is in good demand, but the market is wonderfully short of expert ability.

While it may not be possible for every worker to become an expert, it is possible for every young man and young woman at least, to so thoroughly equip themselves that the opportunities of life will be readily discovered and utilized.

ARBOR DAY.

The observance of Arbor Day throughout the state yesterday was a good educator, and should inspire, in the minds of children and young people, a love of nature, as well as a regard for the cultivation of trees.

There are some things in life that are so common that a total lack of appreciation is wonderfully apparent. The tree is one of them. It develops so silently, and matures so gradually, that we hardly recognize it, until it is gone.

The forest tree has never taken kindly to civilization, and as a result, the groves disappear, and individual members of the specie drop out rapidly.

Arbor day attempts to make good the loss to a limited extent. The observance of the day is significant, because it encourages thoughtfulness for others' happiness.

The thousands of little trees planted yesterday, may never be enjoyed by the children who put them out, but other generations will enjoy them. The day is one of the rare occasions, when we plant for others to reap, and it is well that it is generally observed.

Geo. Kennan, one of our level headed literary men in the Philippines, has had to modify his views very rapidly, because of the changes for the better in the military situation.

Carnegie may be the world's most useful man, but what the great cities need more than libraries, is more Cooper unions to teach the use of hands and brains.

Benjamin Harrison was an exceptional president or statesman; but as an ex-president he had no superiors and few equals.

Pres. McKinley, at El Paso, will shake hands with Pres. Diaz, the man who does as he pleases without regard to politicians.

"The Czar of all the Russias," is not so impressive a phrase as it once was. His humiliating blunder will help the cause of true liberty.

Count Cassini says his country, Russia, does not want Manchuria. This is evidence of his ability as a diplomat.

The most successful men do not spend their time looking for larger salaries.

BOYS RAISE MUSHROOMS.

Farming Instinct Develops in Heart of a Great City.

Two Chicago boys, brothers, living on the south side, at 6618 Ellis avenue, have become farmers. Their farm is in the basement of the four-story flat building in which they live, and the only crop they raise is mushrooms. The names of these boys are Albert and Wilbur Smith, and they are 16 and 14 years old, respectively. They began their farm operations last fall. There was a deal of sawing and hammering in that basement for many days before and after school, for their farm is built upon stilt, and might be said to be a miniature of the hanging gardens of Babylon that you read about in history. To give my readers a better idea, the farm is arranged in four sections, each one foot wide, one foot deep and four feet long, placed one above the other. When the boys had "built" their farm they filled each section with very rich soil, and having secured the mushroom "seed" put a small part of it into each section. Then they waited for their crop to grow. Months went by, all winter in fact, and the young farmers became almost discouraged. However, they continued to water the earth regularly and to examine each section carefully every day. Two weeks ago there was excited talking in that basement. The first mushroom had poked its umbrella through the surface. Then others appeared, and Albert and Wilbur Smith have now concluded that their "farm" is going to be a success after all.—Chicago Record-Herald.

A VALUABLE COLLECTION.

J. Pierpont Morgan Presents a Lot of Gems to a Museum.

The American Museum of Natural History is making preparations to install one of the largest and most valuable collections of gems in the world. The new exhibit embraces a magnificent collection of precious gems, stones, and pearls of the United States shown at the Paris fair, which there received the grand prize. The entire collection has been purchased by J. Pierpont Morgan and presented to the museum. Their value is said to be over $200,000. Notable among the most valuable gems are four diamonds, the largest being found in Waukegan, Wis., of purest quality, weighing 15 1/2-32 of a carat. This is considered a priceless stone, as it is the largest and best specimen ever found in the United States. The other, a diamond of 3 1/4-18 carats, is from Dane county, Oregon, and two others were extracted from meteorites found in the Canyon Diablo, Arizona. Of the stones which are of the greatest value produced in the United States the following are in the collection: Turquoise, 20 varieties, all from New Mexico, the largest coming from Las Cerillas, weight 39 carats; a ceremonial necklace of turquoise, obtained from the same locality, worn by the San Domingo Indians. Fourteen specimens of sapphires are shown, 11 from Montana and three from North Carolina, the largest being seventeen and one-fourth carats, found in Yogo gulch, Fergus county, Montana.—Chicago Journal.

PARLIAMENTS OF THE WORLD.

House of Representatives Small According to European Standards.

The largest parliamentary body of lawmakers is the British house of commons, the membership of which is 670. The French chamber of deputies, representing a constituency numerically smaller than the British commons, has a membership of 584, the Italian parliament 508, the Hungarian house of representatives 453, the Spanish cortes 431, the Austrian reichsrath 425, and the German reichstag, the smallest of the European parliaments, 397. The present membership of the house of representatives is 357, which is less than that of any of the European law-making bodies, and the next house of representatives will be made up of 388 members, a small increase when compared with the growth of population and the requirements of representation for each state as fixed by the federal constitution. Each of the four territories (there are now only four) will have a delegate, bringing up the whole membership of the next congress, to 390, a larger membership than is the rule in legislative bodies in the United States. The lower branch of the New York assembly at Albany has a membership of 150, the lower house of Pennsylvania at Harrisburg has 204 members, the lower house of Illinois at Springfield 162, and the lower house of Ohio at Columbus 110. In large American states the general tendency is to limit the membership of the legislature so that it shall not be unwieldy though there are 250 members of the lower house of the Massachusetts legislature and 184 members of the lower house of the Georgia legislature. The Canadian parliament, under the apportionment of 1892, consists of 213 members. The house of Greece consists of 207 members and the chamber of deputies of Brazil has 212 members.—New York Sun.

Consultation Free. Terms Reasonable.

MAGNETIC HEALING

has become a science. Which, under the direction of a man of knowledge, destroys every form of disease, no matter of how long standing, and causes those who have afflictions to rejoice over their restoration to perfect health. This science embraces the only known method of driving away disease without the use of drugs.

WHAT MAGNETISM IS AND DOES

Vital or personal magnetism properly defined, is the intelligent use of a trained will. It is life and gives life. It penetrates obstructions, moves secretions and increases circulation, thus stimulating and strengthening the whole system. The intelligent people of the present day think, study, and investigate. The trend of modern research is toward simplicity. It is gradually becoming more apparent, that, while we have thousands of diseases in name, we have very few diseases that are really different.

TO KNOW THE CAUSE OF A DISEASE IS HALF THE CURE

All diseases can be actually traced to one of three or four distinct causes. It is very necessary for the physician to understand this, for, to exactly comprehend the nature of a disease is indispensable, in order to be able to cure it.

Prof. Ripken does not publish any testimonials, excepting those that are voluntarily given him by some of his patients who wish to benefit mankind.

Prof. Ripken treats all manner of disease, acute or chronic, without medicine, surgery or electrical appliances.

BUCKLETON LINKS IN VERY FINE SHAP.

Improvements Made by the Sinissippi Club Places the Grounds in First Class Shape.

During the last month many improvements have been made in the grounds of the Sinissippi Golf club. The course is in first-class shape and a few weeks more will find it in condition to compare favorably with any course in the state.

The club is still working on the idea of holding the first annual tournament of the state association over their course. Replies to the letters sent out by the secretary, have been received from a number of clubs and in almost every case they endorse the plan of forming a state league and allowing Janesville to hold the first tournament.

A meeting of the directors of the Western Golf association was held in Chicago today and Mr. L. T. Boyd of the Milwaukee country club attended to push the claims of that organization for the holding of the annual tournament over their course. While it is a fine nine hole course it would be badly crowded by the large number of players who will attend this tournament. If they cannot get the Western association tournament which is likely to go to Midlothian they want the Wisconsin tournament. The Sentinel in speaking of the matter says:

"An event which will in all likelihood be held on the club's links will be the tournament which the clubs of Wisconsin are attempting to bring about by the formation of a state golf association. Kenosha and Janesville are the prime leaders in this movement and Milwaukee yesterday sent word to the parties interested that the Country club will join in case the organization is formed."

Other clubs that are talking of joining the organization say that Milwaukee lays claim to the tournament, solely from the fact that it is the largest city in the state and may have a better kept course. For a sports course it does not compare with the Sinissippi and it was not so much better in any respect. The idea of holding a tournament originated in Janesville and the first steps in that direction were taken by the officers of the Janesville club and if a tournament is held Janesville should be given the first chance.

Beware of a Cough.

A cough is not a disease, but a symptom. Consumption and bronchitis, which are the most dangerous and fatal diseases, have for their first indication a persistent cough, and if properly treated as soon as this cough appears are easily cured. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has proven wonderfully successful, and gained its wide reputation and extensive sale by its success in curing the diseases which cause coughing. If it is not beneficial it will not cost you a cent. For sale by Peoples' Drug Store and King's Pharmacy.

THE NEW JEWELRY.

Unset Stones and Rough Gold—Colored Gems and Enamels.

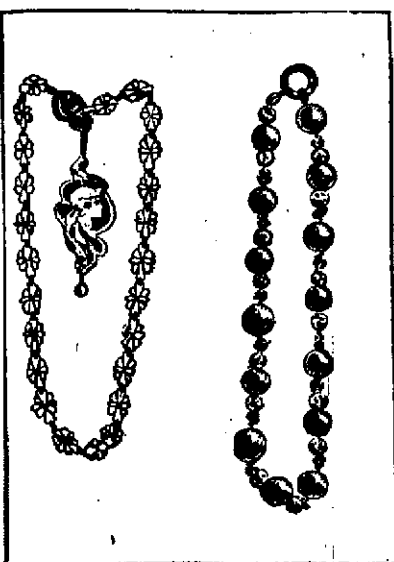

We have kept a constant and almost jealous affection for diamonds of late years. Now emeralds and amethysts are coming in for their share of favor, and the paler the amethyst the more fashionable.

Pink coral is blended with diamonds in floral sprays, and uncut turquoises are in keeping with the enamels now so fashionable in buttons and buckles. A good many of our necklaces—and, indeed, the neck chains—are of barbaric splendor. Some are wrought in rough gold and jeweled cabochons. These are pretty in emeralds, pearls and coral.

Flexible chains with uncut stones are promised as the height of the mode. The dog collars of pearls and diamonds are now fashioned with greater care, so that they follow the form of the throat.

Emerald pendants are often attached to diamond necklaces, and a beautiful brooch representing bulrushes is made with the heads of the bulrushes alternately of sapphires, diamonds and rubies.

The nouveau art lends itself to the production of flowers which are somewhat uncommon, such as the honey-

NEWEST BRACELETS.

suckle. The backs of watches in this style are made to represent sunflowers, poppies and roses, and very pretty they are.

Pearl and diamond earrings are again fashionable.

The chain bracelet shown, with a head in low relief, represents the new art style, while the second bracelet is of the flexible kind, now in such high favor, and is effectively set with brilliants, turquoises and pearls.

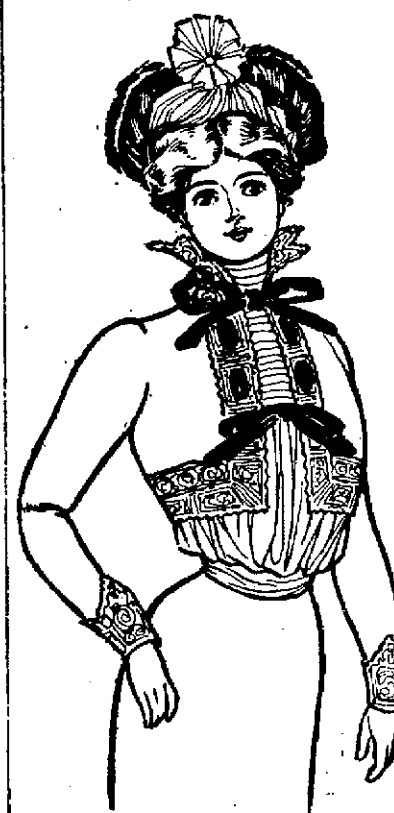

The mania for golden tags, or, as the French call them, ferrets, shows no signs of diminishing, and these additions are even being made on fur coats, which seem to be the excuse for a good many wonderful and notable ornamentations, such as enamel filigree buttons and art nouveau buckles.

Some of the dark coats have sashes of soft silk which end in metallic tags, and they hang from rosettes on evening and day bodices. Some of pear shaped pearls attached to black crepe de chine are notably stylish.

Many of the long ends of ribbon which come from either side of the neck and are secured by a slide on the front of the bodice end in enamel tags which accord with the ribbon, and that is generally chine.

A Springlike Confection.

Although it employs fur, this smart little bolero coat of carnal may be looked upon as a token of spring. It is white and bordered all the way round with an edging of deep eern lace over gold tissue, the effect of which is excellent by contrast with the white.

SMART BOLERO IN WHITE AND GOLD.

ness of the fur. The lace and gold tissue form a high collar and also gauntlet cuffs. At the throat there is a knot of black velvet ribbon and again at the bust, while similar touches of black appear on the gauntlet cuffs. In front also the coat is finished with loops of gold cord and gold buttons.

Maple Rolls.

Take one quart of bread dough when it is molded for the last raising, mold in a cup of maple sugar, one-quarter teaspoonful of soda, one teaspoonful of butter. Let it rise and mold again and cut out, rise and bake. These are very nice.

TOTAL ECLIPSE OF SUN ON MAY 17

It Will Not Be Visible on the Western Hemisphere—Astronomical Data for May.

Mercury and Venus will appear as evening stars the latter part of the month. The former will pass through superior conjunction May 14 while the latter has just passed the sun in the same direction from east to west, and the latter will shine forth as the brilliant evening star setting at the same point of the horizon as the sun.

Mars is the brilliant red planet seen in the western sky in the evening near the bright star Regulus. Jupiter and Saturn form an interesting pair of planets in the morning star, but the former is by far the more brilliant. They rise in the southeastern horizon in the late evening and are most conspicuous in the southern sky in the early morning.

There will be a total eclipse of the sun on May 17 which will not be visible at all in this part of the world but for which several parties have left this country to make observation.

The shadow of totality will start on the earth's surface a little southwest of Madagascar and travel northeast across the Indian ocean until it strikes the west coast of Sumatra and swing around to a southeasterly course, crossing the southern part of Borneo and that of New Guinea and will leave the earth at a point in the Pacific ocean northeast of Australia. The entire journey will occupy 3h, 12m. The unusually long duration of this eclipse makes it especially valuable for observation.

The time of day at or near the point of longest duration, where the United States government party will be stationed, will be 12h., 10m., p. m. and the date May 18; but owing to the difference in longitude the same instant in the central United States will be May 17, 11:35 p. m.

POND'S EXTRACT

There is only ONE POND'S EXTRACT, and everybody knows its purity, strength and great medicinal value. Don't take the weak, watery Witch Hazel preparations represented to be "the same as" POND'S EXTRACT. They generally contain "wood alcohol," which irritates the skin, and, taken internally, is a deadly poison. Get genuine POND'S EXTRACT, sold ONLY in SEALED bottles, in BUFF wrappers.

LAXAKOLA

THE GREAT Tonic LAXATIVE

At some time, if not habitually, you have sour stomach, indigestion, biliousness, constipation, bad breath, dizziness, inactive liver, heartburn, kidney troubles, backache, loss of appetite, insomnia, lack of energy, bad blood, blotched or muddy skin, or some of the other symptoms and disorders which tell the story of bad bowels and an impaired digestive system. Laxakola will cure you. It will clean out the bowels, stimulate the liver and kidneys, strengthen the mucous membranes of the stomach, purify your blood and put you "on your feet" again. Your appetite will return, your bowels will move regularly, your liver and kidneys will cease to trouble you, your skin will clear and freshen and you will feel the old time energy and buoyancy.

Mothers who had been seeking the proper medicine to give their little ones for constipation, diarrhea, colic and similar troubles, find Laxakola an ideal medicine for children. Children like its taste and ask for it. It keeps their bowels regular without any pain or griping, and acts as a general tonic at the same time. It will assist nature, aid digestion, relieve restlessness, clear the coated tongue, reduce fever, cause refreshing, restful sleep and make them well, happy and hearty.

Laxakola, the great laxative tonic, is not only most efficient of family remedies, but the most economical, because it combines two medicines, viz: laxative and tonic, and at one price. No other remedy gives so much for the money. At drugists, 25¢ and 50¢, or send for free sample to THE LAXAKOLA CO., 139 Nassau Street, N. Y., or 328 Dearborn Street, Chicago.

DEATH HAS TAKEN TWIN DAUGHTERS

Sorrow in the Home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Williams—Funeral at St. Patrick's Church Tomorrow.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Carl T. Williams, 107 Galea street rests in the shadow of that great sorrow which only the presence of death can bring and their hearts are wrung with grief over the loss of their twin daughters, Veronica Frances and Cecelia Marie. On Monday night, April 22nd, less than two weeks ago the little strangers came to gladden the hearts and home of their parents.

They were the first born and the welcome given them was all the more joyous because the blessing given was a double one. Together they came into the world and almost hand in hand they returned to the fair spirit land. The little ones were strong and well and gave every promise of living to be a future comfort and joy to all who knew them until last Wednesday afternoon about three o'clock when they were taken with spasms.

This morning at 3:30 o'clock death ended the suffering of little Veronica, the elder child, and two hours later her twin sister closed her eyes forever. The heart broken parents will have the sympathy of the entire community in their deep affliction. Funeral services will be held from St. Patrick's church tomorrow afternoon at two thirty o'clock.

For Janesville Sportsmen.

W. H. Appleby is up in Forest county superintending the building of the club house and the road leading to it for the Kenosha club. The club is composed of Janesville men and the house is located twenty miles from the nearest railway station. The woods abound with game and it is an ideal spot for sportsmen. Their property is located between two fine lakes that are full of game fish and are covered with ducks in the fall. Some of the best deer country in the state is in this vicinity and the members expect to have fine sport during the coming season.

Francis Murphy League.

The Francis Murphy League will have charge of the men's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. tomorrow afternoon at three o'clock. Mr. Tate, the celebrated temperance talker will give the main address and it is sure to be interesting. There will be other good speeches and the usual inspiring music and a cordial invitation is extended to every man in the city to be present. A profitable and interesting hour is assured.

Identified by a Priest.

San Jose, Cal., May 4.—Father Gregory Loggio, pastor of the Catholic church at Mountain View, positively identified C. B. Crill, the Dunham suspect, as a man whom he married under that name to Miss Dora Schreiber at Pueblo, Col., in 1887. He had no special knowledge of Crill, but knew the Schreiber family well.

Wins West Point Examination.

Cedar Falls, Ia., May 4.—John Lund was awarded first place in the competitive examination for cadetship at West Point from the Third Iowa district. He will be recommended by Speaker Henderson for appointment.

Berlin Has New Governor.

Berlin, May 4.—General von Hahnke, until recently chief of the emperor's military cabinet, has been appointed governor of Berlin. He is succeeded in the military cabinet by General Hurlsen von Haeseler.

Spanish War Veteran Gets Pension.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—The commissioner of pensions today granted to Alvar L. Bournique of Chicago a pension of $10 a month. The pension was granted for disabilities received during the war with Spain.

Asks Bids on Steel Rails.

Sydney, N. W. S., May 4.—The government is inviting tenders for 100,000 tons of steel rails, to be manufactured in New South Wales within four years. This involves the establishing of iron works.

Our Invasion of Nicaragua.

When the United States gets ready to construct the Nicaragua canal the presence of considerable American sentiment in that country will be discovered, writes a correspondent in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. A peaceable conquest of the republic seems to be in progress. Americans have had a weakness for meddling in the political affairs of Nicaragua a long time. And now, it appears, the industrial invasion is proceeding with notable results. In one district, Matagalpa, between eighty and ninety Americans are operating coffee plantations. A large American company is working the old gold mines. In the district of Jinotega and elsewhere Americans are obtaining large interests in the tobacco-growing industry. They are getting control of transportation facilities.

Uncle Sam's Interest in Agriculture.

From the island of Lissa, in the Adriatic, agents of the agricultural department sent cuttings of St. John's bread, which is a leguminous tree, suited for rather dry, calcareous soils in the southern states, Porto Rico and Hawaii. It is a fodder tree, yielding immense quantities of pods, which are shipped and sold for cattle feed, and which are also used by brewers and distillers. The tree commences to bear when it is fifteen years old and yields from 450 to 650 pounds of pod per tree. On the island of Lissa the bearing tree yields pods to the value of $5.50 to $8.50 per annum.—Washington Star.

Vernie Murdock entertained the Open Window club at the home of his parents last evening. Dancing formed the chief pleasure of the evening. The music was furnished by Len Farley and Leo Brown. Refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl G. Coon of Wau-pun are the proud parents of a son, their first born, who joined the family circle Wednesday. Mrs. Carl Palmer of this city, grandmother of the baby, has been visiting her daughter for several days.

Mrs. Mertie C. Powell, wife of Dr. R. R. Powell yesterday filed a notice with the city clerk that she would hold the city responsible for the injuries she received by falling on a defective sidewalk on Jefferson street on April 22. Mrs. Powell was badly hurt and expects the city to settle for her injuries.

J. W. Moorehead, proprietor of the American house, Beloit, was arrested for using oleomargarine on his hotel tables on April 24, without displaying the proper sign. He waived examination before Justice Booth and the case will be heard in the municipal court in this city on May 15.

W. F. Hayes, the optician with F. C. Cook & Co., arrived home last evening, after a most successful trip to patients residing in the northern portion of the state.

Mr. Hayes also numbers among his patients residents residing in Milwaukee and several of the other large cities, which speaks well for his good work.

Crystal Springs park will have its opening for the coming season on tomorrow. Manager Paul Gehrke has secured a brass band of fifteen pieces, an orchestra and a male quartet from Chicago to furnish music during the day, and aside from the musical program other attractions have been arranged for.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Hollins was held yesterday afternoon, the Rev. W. W. Woodside officiating. The song service was rendered by Mrs. Bagley and Miss Cousins. The interment was at Oak Hill cemetery. The pall bearers were John Thoroughgood, W. Corneau, W. Farmer, George Schaller and Thomas Lamb.

In Justice Earle's court yesterday judgments were rendered as follows: D. B. Morrison against Maurice Reed, $17.52; Wm. Byrne against F. D. Kimball, damages, $52.58; W. H. Ashcraft against William K. Duke and Marietta Duke, transcript taken, $102.

Miss Euretta Kimball goes to Evansville tomorrow morning, where she will recite before a Sunday evening club which is connected with one of the churches tomorrow evening.

A fair sized audience heard Nat. W. Bingham's illustrated lecture on "The Land of the Snake Dance" at Court Street M. E. church last evening. Mr. Bingham is a very pleasing speaker, and has a very poetic style.

She Dances Like a Siren.

I held my breath as I watched the gypsy in the Seville dancing hall; I felt myself swaying unconsciously to the rhythm of her body, of her beckoning hands, of the glittering smile that came and went in her eyes. I seemed to be drawn into a shining whirlpool, in which I turned, turned, hearing the buzz of the water settling over my head. The guitar buzzed, buzzed in a prancing rhythm, the gypsy coiled about the floor in her trailing dress, never so much as showing her ankles, with a rapidity concentrated upon itself; her hands beckoned, reached out, clutched, clutched delicately, lived to their finger tips; her body straightened, bent, the knees bent and straightened, the heels beat on the floor, carrying her backward and round; the toes pointed, paused, pointed, and the body drooped or rose into immobility, a smiling, significant pause of the whole body. Then the motion began again, more vivid, more restrained, as if teased by some unseen limits, as if turning upon itself in the vain desire of escape, as if caught in its own coils. —Arthur Symons in London Saturday Review.

PURSES AMOUNTING TO $31,700 OFFERED

Meeting of the Secretaries of the Wisconsin and Illinois Interstate Fair Association.

A meeting of the Wisconsin and Illinois Interstate fair association was held this afternoon at the Hotel Myers.

The meeting was held for the purpose of arranging dates for the different fairs to be held by the members of the association during the coming season. Purses to the amount of $31,700 will be given by the seven associations represented at the meeting for trotting races.

The places represented and the dates for holding the meetings and the secretaries of the associations are as follows: Beloit, August 20-23, H. D. Pollock, Secy; Woodstock, Ill., August 27-30, F. G. Arnold, Secy; Libertyville, Ill., Sept. 3-6, O. E. Churchill, Secy; Milwaukee State Fair Sept. 9-13, John M. True, Secy; Elkhorn, Sept. 17-20, George L. Harrington, Secy; Waukesha, Sept. 25-28, F. W. Harland, Secy; Berlin, October 1-4. The officers of the association are John M. True, Pres.; Madison, Wis.; Geo. L. Harrington, V. P.; Elkhorn, Wis.; F. G. Arnold, Sec and Treas., Woodstock, Ill.

The circuit formed today is one of the best ever organized in this part of the country. The purses are liberal and all the cities represented are live places with a reputation for giving first class meetings.

Miss Maud Dwyer.

The last sad rites over the remains of Miss Maud Dwyer, who died Thursday, were held this morning from St. Patrick's church, in the presence of a large number of sorrowing relatives and friends. Deacon E. M. McGinley preached the funeral sermon and made many touching remarks. A large number of floral offerings were sent as a last token of esteem. The interment was at Mount Olivet cemetery, the pall bearers being six first cousins of the deceased.

TO CEMETERIES BY RAIL.

Baltimore has a number of fine suburban cemeteries, all of which are reached by some division of the street railway lines, and the company found by putting in a few crossovers they could take a car from any part of the city to any one of the burying grounds. It was, therefore, decided to offer cars for the transportation of funeral parties. The company built a special car well adapted for the purpose. The car is divided into two compartments, the smaller of which has running its full length another compartment or vault, in which the casket is carried. A heavy plate-glass door, hinged to swing downward, gives access to the vault from the outside. When a casket is to be placed in the car, the shelf is drawn out, the casket lifted upon it, and the shelf is then pushed back into place. The larger compartment has twelve cross seats in the center aisle, giving a seating capacity of twenty-four; the smaller compartment has four seats. Heavy black curtains divide this section into two private compartments for the immediate family of the deceased. Floral contributions are piled upon the top of the vault, and can be seen from the street. The car is finished inside and out with black enamel with nickel-plated fixtures. The car has been named "Dolores," meaning sorrow, and it is rented at from $20 to $25 for each interment.—Street Railway Review.

Dogs Taught to Catch Rats.

An academy for dogs, you will say, is a novel institution, but there is such school in Chicago. There is only one course of study, and a most practical one it is—the teaching of puppies to catch rats. The students to this academy come from the city streets mostly, and all enter upon their merits, aristocracy not yet having a place in this canine college, but fox-terriers are more in demand than any other kind. When the puppy is duly enrolled the "professor" who conducts the institution proceeds to give it careful training. If it shows great fear of the rodents, however, it is pretty apt to be expelled, for the puppy that has once been bitten or terrified by a rat rarely gets over its fright, and is of little use as a rat catcher. A few lessons to the more hopeful dog student will develop it into a courageous and wily pursuer of his ratship. When the dog is thoroughly trained it is readily sold, good rat hunters being in much demand.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Cooking by Electricity.

In the modern house the practice of the art of cooking is not confined to the kitchen alone. There are dishes only seen in their perfection within arm's length of the fire that cooked them. With an electrically heated steel griddle at the hostess' elbow griddle cakes are prepared on the highest degree of excellence, as they are flipped crisp and hot from the griddle to the plate. Five o'clock tea has its attractions enhanced when the tea kettle is heated by electricity, obviating the dangers and inconvenience which attend the use of alcohol. And the chafing dish! What a subtle charm lurks within its mysteries! For even the masculine mind has succumbed to its allurements, and with what results! We are told it makes heroes out of cooks and cooks out of heroes.—Harper's Bazar.

OPEN FOR TRAFFIC ON MONDAY, JUNE 3

Walter A. Johnson this morning received an official notification from F. A. Miller, General Passenger agent of the St. Paul road stating that the Janesville and Southeastern road would be open for passenger service on Monday, June 3d. The time card has not yet been published. Trains are now running on schedule time to Belden, sixty miles out from Chicago. The stations between Janesville and Belden are Avalon, Tiooga, Caxton, Walworth, Zenda and Arishby. The railroad company now have splendid grounds at Fox Lake, Ingleside and Long Lake and no doubt they will be popular resorts for Janesville people during the coming summer.

But very little work yet remains to be done to complete the road which will have one of the smoothest road beds of any line in the state when completed.

ARMY OF THE CZAR.

RUSSIA READY FOR WAR, ALTHOUGH TALKING FOR PEACE.

Lessons Taken From the American Civil War—Forrest's Cavalry the Model For Mounted Muscovites. The Terrible Cossack as He Is.

(Copyright, 1900, by G. L. Kilmer.)

Russia took lessons from the American war while her avowed foe, Germany, looked on superciliously. The people of the czar are slow, or at least patient, but when they move it is with resistless force, principally because they keep abreast of the times, never despising an enemy. Great as was Napoleon he had the sense to know that all wisdom cannot be carried in one head and that valor is not confined to a single race. Said he: "It is not enough to kill a Russian soldier. You must also knock him down." In this witticism he summed up the virtues of the Muscovite warrior. Soldiers of tender fiber, high intellect and fine imagination may be very brave, but at the same time are more sensitive to hardship and pain than men of thicker skin and more sluggish minds.

The Russian soldier is amazed at nothing. Nothing frightens him, nothing daunts him. In the passage of the Balkans in the war of 1877 General Gourko's troops suffered beyond measure and endured the hardships without flinching. Says an eyewitness of this audacious feat, in every way equal to Napoleon's crossing of the Alps:

"Their greatcoats were in tatters; their trousers were in shreds; the threads of their sleeves and the backs were often missing. They were full of holes, caused by the soldiers literally throwing themselves on the campfires to get warm. Their coats and their trousers were rotten. The only linen they had was for dressing wounds. Mittens and gloves they had long since left behind them. The skin of their hands in touching metal would be sadly torn because of frostbite. In the smoke of the campfire their faces had become black and shiny. Their eyes, red and watery, were half closed from the smoke, blinded from the snow and prolonged wakefulness.

"Thus clothed, lost among the mountain peaks, far above the clouds, in the midst of an intense frost and of fogs, covered with snow and assailed by storms, they lived many days, continually on the alert, struggling to haul their guns into position, with little means for obtaining subsistence, a great number succumbing to fatigue or frost, but the most marching straight to the goal."

Naturally the bulk of the recruits or conscripts of the army of the czar come from the peasant class. Military service is obligatory upon all, with few exceptions, and if the law were enforced Russia would have an army of 5,000,000 men in time of peace. With her population of 130,000,000 Russia should be able to call out 20,000,000 able-bodied men for war. Under the present organization, when all the soldiers are with their colors, including with the regular army the territorial army and the militia, there are over 3,000,000 soldiers ready for the field.

The Russian army organization is that of regiments and corps d'armee. The strength of a corps is 45,000 men. The subordinate corps of engineers, military trains, railroad electricians, torpedoists, velocipedists, police, and so on, are well drilled and equipped for service. The arms borne by the soldiers are of the newest pattern of repeaters, and the field, siege, mountain and horse batteries are supplied with the best guns money can procure.

The average Russian recruit is a village boy, raw and ill disciplined, but he readily yields to army training, for in spite of the class distinctions the officers cultivate a spirit of comradeship with the men. The etiquette of the camp is severe in the extreme, but when off duty the officers and soldiers talk and banter without reserve. In fighting, the Russian soldier prefers the bayonet. It is a saying among Russians that "the bullet is clumsy; the bayonet alone is the thing for the brave."

While the proud necked Germans looked upon the American civil war as an affair of the mob, Russia studied every phase of it with critical eye, and from the campaigns of the redoubtable Forrest in the west they learned the proper use of cavalry. For fighting on horseback Russia has in her Cossacks the finest cavalry in the world, with no end to the battalions she can muster, but all mounted men in the Russian army are taught to maneuver and to fight on foot, using their steeds as Forrest used his—"to get their fists with the most men." General Sherman said that when in Russia he found all the officers well versed in the lessons of the American campaigns. The old idea of the dashing cavalry charge with saber had been given up, and the carbine came into favor instead. The modern soldier takes to the long range weapon and one that strikes to kill. The casualty lists of a mounted charge where there is a great floundering of steeds and a slashing of men usually turn out to be very small.

The two types of horseback fighters in Russia are the dragon and the Cossack, and the tendency is to make the Cossack more of a dragon than mere rough rider. The Russians are good riders and take quite naturally to fighting on foot; hence the change of tactics does not weaken the efficiency of the Russian cavalryman. There are horses in plenty in the land of the czar, and 1,000,000 trained to saddle is not a high figure where the total in the country is 20,000,000. The one picturesque feature of the Russian military camp is the Cossack horseman. Russia has under enrollment and in training, though not always in active service, 150,000 Cossacks from the mountain districts of her southern border. The race from which the Cossacks spring were ancient enemies of the czar and, under Shamyl, fought steadily in the mountains of Caucasus for 22 years. These were the soldiers who conquered Siberia, and in the event of war between Russia and any power to be reached overland an avalanche of Cossacks would be hurled from the mountains upon the armies of the foe.

The Cossack is a soldier for 15 years, or from the age of 10 until 34. A grant of land is his reward for service, and when in the field he furnishes his own horse and all the equipment but the carbine. Being an artist on horseback, it would seem that the Cossack might easily be turned into a showman and spoiled for war. To the eye of the civilian the Cossack drill has all the thrilling attractiveness of the fancy equestrian evolutions, but the American trooper on the plains has found it a good thing for his health sometimes to be able to make a breastwork of his steed both when running and lying down.

In legends the Cossack is pictured as a "holy terror," riding across country at a gallop with a baby impaled upon the point of a lance, while in truth the rough riding Caucasian is a jovial, boyish, simple hearted fellow who can outstride the whirlwind if there is occasion for it and also sleep like a log after a good feed.

The Cossack's horse is much like a broncho. He is a steppes, or plains, pony, but he shows a bit more care in breeding than the ordinary cow pony and is somewhat larger. Unlike almost all wild or semicivilized riders, the Cossack rides with an easy, plain, bar bit instead of the gag bit of the Arab or Mexican or some variation of it. He teaches his very intelligent, tractable horse to mind the word and leg and barely needs the bit at all. Though his seat is such that you wonder how he sticks to his horse at all, he will do the most marvelous feats. It is indifferent to him, so to speak, whether he rides on his seat or on his hind. At full gallop he will throw his stirrups across his saddle, spring upward, insert his feet in them and ride along, standing bolt upright and brandishing his lance, as much at home as an ordinary mortal on a park center, or he will drop his stirrups, rest his right shoulder in the saddle and throw his heels in the air as nimbly as a knight of the sawdust. All this is child's play, if you like it, but when a man is armed and equipped it is not so easy, and the Cossack dearly loves to do things for their very difficulty. It all enables him to meet the unexpected, argues he. While riding backward the Cossack is ready to fight his pursuers with carbine or pistol or, should it come to close work, the knife which is in his belt.

The horse of the Caucasian Cossack is small, and the men are of lighter stature than the Don Cossacks or those from the valley of the Don. The horses of the Don Cossacks are heavy, and the riders are larger men. Sometimes whole regiments will be composed of six footers. Grim tales are told of the savagery of the Cossacks. Their life in the mountains is wild and free, and in the service of the czar they are allowed liberties denied to the regular troops. Their pay is in plunder, and it is said they get a bonus for the ears of the enemy.

Swift moving cavalry must be able to cross rivers where there are no bridges, and the Russians have taken a hint in this from Forrest. Forrest's men would ride to a river armed with boards and rails picked up along the line of march and could quickly improvise the means of crossing. The Russian horsemen are trained in making rafts of driftwood and other chance material. They also carry skin bags which, when inflated, will float man and horse. A bundle of straw packed in a wooden frame and carried on the horse is another device. Russia may or may not be making for war, but she means to be ready if any other nation comes looking for trouble.

SHIRT WAIST MAN.

HE WILL SOON BE HERE BACKED BY OFFICIAL SANCTION.

Policemen, Postmen and Even Disgraced Judges Planning to Go Costless and Vestless Through the Dog Days—Evolution of the Fad.

Clear the track! The shirt waist man is coming, if he has not already arrived. You must get out of his way and not attempt to hinder his progress, unless you want to be hurt, for the shirt waist man is a product of the age and has been manufactured by the evolutions of the wheel of progress.

The shirt waist man, briefly described, is the member of the male sex who has sense enough to adopt the dainty, clever and bewitching custom of the other half of the human race of appearing in public divested of coat. To drop only the coat is not sufficient qualification for entrance into the ranks of the shirt waist man. The vest also must go, and the happy man must appear in the full glory and bloom of his shirt. Naturally, the shirt waist man is a product of the dog days, since his airy costume would speedily invite the grip if worn in cool weather.

Scoffers at the shirt waist man—and last year, when he made his first resplendent appearance, they were plenty—say that he is no new invention, discovery or product. They say that the shirt waist man and the man in shirt sleeves are synonymous, and every one knows that the latter has been extant for many years. But they are much in error. To be a shirt waist man does not mean simply to doff one's coat and vest. It means the wearing of a specially made shirt waist, with a little bulge or blouselike effect just over the trousers top. With the shirt waist go what is known as the high band collar and, usually, a bow tie. Suspenders are rigorously tabooed, and no one may be known as a true shirt waist man who does not replace them by a belt passing through straps on his trousers.

Indications are multiplying that during the coming torrid season shirt waists for men will be "the real thing." The true shirt waist for men is really a thing of beauty and neatness and promises to be taken up with enthusiasm this summer. Shirt manufacturers are paying great attention to them, and the swiftest hooses in the large cities show a full line of the garments. Seriously speaking, the adoption of the men's shirt waist seems to indicate a commendable tendency toward rational dress. No real argument can be urged against the shirt waist man, for he is cool and sensible and, if the shirt be changed often enough, neat and clean in appearance.

If any testimony were needed to convince the most skeptical and derisive that shirt waists for men will be an established institution this summer, it may be found in the fact that they are sanctioned and even authorized by the government. It is expected that the postmaster general in the near future, if he has not already done so, will issue an order formally granting authority to postmasters to allow their men to adopt the shirt waist. Postal employees, especially letter carriers, are required by the regulations of the service to wear their uniforms while on duty, and the rule works great hardship to a hardworking class in the large communities. Walking under a July or August sun with a heavy poncho filled with mail matter "is no picnic," as one of the men expresses it. The carriers are delighted with the proposed rule. Those of New York and Detroit have already chosen patterns for their shirt waists. The Detroit official shirt waists will be of a dark gray pattern, with gold buttons. A black necktie will be worn, and on the straw hat that is as necessary a concomitant to the masculine shirt waist as the "sailor" is to the feminine the band will match the shirt.

In Syracuse this year the policemen will wear shirt waists. Whether the absence of the coat will convince the lawbreakers of the town that the police are harder to tackle is an open question, but there is little doubt that patrolling without a coat is easier than with it. The policemen of Syracuse have been complaining for a long time that their coats were unbearable in hot weather.

A curious outbreak of the shirt waist is that seen in Indianapolis. In the Hoosier capital lately the bar association got together, and the result was a resolution asking the judges of the superior and circuit courts to wear shirt waists after May 1. The reason assigned for this action is that the trial of cases during the heated term is attended with great inconvenience because of the heat and that if the judges would consent to wear shirt waists the attorneys would generally conform to the custom and there would be no necessity for lawyers pulling off their coats and collars, as so frequently happens when trying cases during the hot months. It is probable that the judges will conform to the resolution, but it does seem that from the severe and voluminous black judicial robes of former years to the neat, sweet simplicity of the shirt waist is a mighty transition.

SEEKS TO PREVENT RATE WAR.

Joint Passenger Commission Takes Up Charge Against Western Roads.

New York, May 4.—The Times says: The joint passenger commission has held an extraordinary meeting in this city, at which an attempt was made to prevent the rate war, which, it is said, the recent action of some of the western roads threatens to precipitate. The trouble arose over the announcement of the Chicago & Alton and other western lines entering Kansas City that they would apply the differential rates used by the Wabash railroad and other members of the Western Passenger association over the differential lines from Chicago eastward to tickets reading over the standard lines. The opinion was expressed almost unanimously that unless this rate was recalled a rate war among the western lines would be inevitable, and that if such a rate war should break out the rates in trunk line territory could not help being affected. It was decided to take steps to prevent this and resolutions were adopted asking the lines of the Western Passenger Association to send representatives to a conference which the joint passenger commission will, if it be held, attend in a body. The conference proposed by the meeting will be held at as early a date as possible.

Miss Their Dinner.

ELKHART, Ind., May 4.—Through passengers on the Lake Shore Express which left Chicago at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon were cheated out of their dinner through an unusual circumstance. The three cooks of the dining car abruptly left the train when it pulled into this station. In vain the conductor expostulated and pleaded. The knights of the pan were obdurate. A trivial misunderstanding between themselves and the conductor was the cause of the sudden abandonment of their jobs. Fifty Chicagoans aboard fasted until Toledo was reached.

Blaze at Stock Yards.

Chicago, May 4.—Armour & Co.'s large four-story beef house, bounded by West 42d and West 43d streets and Packers' Avenue and Loomis street, was destroyed by fire, which broke out in the killing room at 6:45 o'clock. An electric light wire is believed to have started the fire. It caused a loss of $100,000 to the structure and contents and rendered 500 persons temporarily out of employment.

COMMONPLACE FACTS.

Put Together in a Way to Make You Think.

It comes as something of a shock to realize that Massachusetts is smaller than Vermont. One always has a hazy, general impression that the Bay State is three or four times as large as the Green Mountain Commonwealth, superficially. But it isn't so. Vermont has (according to a just published census bulletin) 9,565 square miles, whereas Massachusetts has but 8,325. And there are five other states of the union smaller than Vermont—New Hampshire is 260 square miles smaller—though if it were spread out flat it would doubtless be much bigger than Vermont. Connecticut, Rhode Island, Delaware and New Jersey are the four other states that are smaller than Vermont. But all make a terribly poor figure when compared with Texas. Texas, may it please your royal highness, has 267,780 square miles, and is thus 28 times as big as Vermont, and makes just about one-fourteenth of the whole United States. If it were as thickly populated as Vermont it would have a population of about 9,000,000, whereas, as a matter of fact, it has but 2,500,000. The Texans have plenty of elbow room. Next to Texas in size comes California, with 158,360 square miles, and then follow Montana, 146,680; Nevada, 110,700, and Colorado, 103,925—which are all the states having a hundred thousand square miles of area or more. Alaska knocks them all silly with 590,884 square miles, and at the other extreme, the reader experiences a delicate surprise to learn that Hawaii, over which so much fuss has been made, is a good deal smaller than Vermont, having but 6,449 square miles.—Pennsylvania Grit.

THE DUTY OF MOTHERS.

What suffering frequently results from a mother's ignorance; or more frequently from a mother's neglect to properly instruct her daughter!

Tradition says "woman must suffer," and young women are so taught. There is a little truth and a great deal of exaggeration in this. If a young woman suffers severely she needs treatment, and her mother should see that she gets it.

Many mothers hesitate to take their daughters to a physician for examination; but no mother need hesitate to write freely about her daughter or herself to Mrs. Pinkham and secure the most efficient advice without charge. Mrs. Pinkham's address is Lynn, Mass.

Mrs. August Pfalzgraf, of South Byron, Wis., mother of the young lady whose portrait we here publish, wrote Mrs. Pinkham in January, 1899, saying her daughter had suffered for two years with irregular menstruation had headache all the time, and pain in her side, feet swell, and was generally miserable. Mrs. Pinkham promptly replied with advice, and under date of March, 1899, the mother writes again that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound cured her daughter of all pains and irregularity.

Nothing in the world equals Mrs. Pinkham's great medicine for regulating woman's peculiar monthly troubles.

VITAL MAGNETISM

Greatest Curative Agent of the Day.

PROF. FUNK

The treatment of disease by Magnetism is not a new method of treatment, having been used a great many years ago. Yet through scientific research of recent years it has been brought to that state of perfection as to be the greatest curative agency of the century. It makes no demands on the vitality of the patient, but enlists the curative powers contained in the body, which readily respond when properly appealed to. Under magnetic treatment pain is suppressed, functions normally restored, secretion encouraged and Nature, through the influence of the magnetic power, permitted to be the healer.

Prof. Funk is particularly successful in all cases of rheumatism, neuralgia, constipation, flux, chronic diarrhoea, paralysis, dropsy, heart disease, asthma, dislocations, general debility, short and difficult breathing, lumbago, kidney disease, headache, catarrh, roaring in the head, female diseases, atrophy of limbs, fever or coldness of any part, etc. A very few treatments always give relief and a continuation of the treatments a permanent cure. Incontinence of urine or bed-wetting is quickly and permanently cured by magnetic treatment. Children or adults will find in magnetism a speedy relief from this annoying habit.

Prof. Funk treats all manner of disease without the use of medicine, surgery or mechanical appliances of any kind. He cordially invites all who are suffering to come and see him. He treats all honestly. If he cannot help you he tells you so and gives everyone the benefit of examination and consultation absolutely free.

JACKSONVILLE IS A RUIN

Florida's Leading City Visited by Disastrous Fire.

MILES OF BUILDINGS BURN.

One Hundred and Thirty Blocks of Residences and Long Rows of Business Houses Are Destroyed—Loss Will Reach $15,000,000.

Jacksonville, Fla., May 4.—Jacksonville, yesterday a beautiful, smiling little city, standing in the sunshine on the placid bank of the St. John's river, lies today desolate, 12,000 of her people, homeless and penniless and with a great hole eaten out of her heart by fire. One hundred and thirty blocks of business and residence property are in ashes, 1,300 houses have been entirely wiped out and the total loss will not be less than $15,000,000. This devastation was wrought in eight hours. No earthly power could have checked the flames that swept from one end to the other of the city, fanned by one of the highest winds of the year and fed at every yard of their progress by dry wood and shingles. The little fire department worked till its members dropped from sheer exhaustion. It would not have mattered if their numbers and appliances had been ten times as great as they are; the result would have been the same.

Started in a Factory.
A defective electric wire touching some loose material in a palmetto fiber factory at a few minutes after noon ignited it like a firebrand, and in a moment the building was in a blaze. The firemen were called out and it seemed an easy task to check the flames. A few moments after the alarm was turned in, however, the wind blew up from the bay, and almost before the first line of hose was laid on the factory the danger had spread beyond the reach of the engines. The breeze, freshening every moment, caught the bundles of fiber and tossed them straight ahead in its path toward the east, where hundreds of homes stood. The burning stuff fell on rooftops and verandas, and catching everywhere it dropped soon started a dozen conflagrations where a moment before there was only one. Over a radius of half a dozen blocks four times that number of fires were started before the people had any warning that the danger was anywhere near them. Dynamite was used in vain. Buildings were blown up right in the path of the fire, but before the echoes of the explosion had died away the burning brands were fastening onto new prey many yards ahead.

No Time to Save Anything.
There was no time to save anything, very little time indeed for thousands of people to save themselves. All the city and county records, the proceedings of the criminal courts and archives that have been accumulated here since 1830, are lost, gone into oblivion with the buildings that housed them. The large state armory, the city hall with its tall tower and clock, the county court house, the criminal court building, the city jail, and the public market are all wiped out. All the graded schools of the city, the Roman Catholic church and orphanage, St. John's Episcopal Church and the Roman Catholic convent are gone, and every hotel of prominence in the city, some of them among the most famous tourist resorts of the South, have disappeared. Among these are the St. James, the United States, the Placide, the Windsor and the Duval. According to the city map, 130 blocks were burned, many of them in the heart of the business and residence section. The estimate of houses to the block is ten; hence 1,300 of them went up in smoke. Many of the finest private buildings in the city were destroyed, including theaters, churches and residences.

Scope of the Conflagration.

The burned district reaches from Burbridge street on the north to the St. John's river on the south, a distance of not quite two miles. The width of the desolated area is thirteen blocks. Within this space practically everything is blackened ruins. On Bay street, the principal mart of trade, the Western Union Telegraph Company's building is the first building standing going west. Everything east of Laura bay is gone. At 10:15 p. m. the fire was under control, having practically burned itself out. The suburban settlements, with the exception of La Villa, are intact. La Villa was badly damaged. Thousands of persons are on the streets tonight homeless, with practically all of their worldly possessions upon their backs.

The depots of the railroads situated in the southeastern section have been turned into temporary lodging houses and hospitals. Luckily the weather is fine, so that there will be no suffering on that score.

Dynamite Used by Firemen.

As the afternoon wore on and the fire department began to use dynamite in order to check the flames the explosions all through the burning districts excited the negro population to the point of frenzy. It was impossible for the police to check the panic.

Famous Hotels in Ashes.

In spite of all efforts to save the Windsor and the St. James' hotels, both hostleries were quickly enveloped in flames. For about an hour the guests in the Windsor had been busily packing their trunks and went away loaded with trunks and grips. Among the public buildings in Jacksonville not damaged by the fire are the postoffice, built entirely of Georgia marble, and the new terminal railway station, one of the finest in the south.

Summary of the Great Fire.

Number of people homeless.....12,000
Deaths reported.....6
Number of blocks wiped out.....130
Public buildings destroyed.....6
Houses burned.....1,300

Morris, Ill., Badly Scorched.

Morris, Ill., May 4.—Fire started by an explosion of dust in the elevator owned by Hull & Nelson destroyed that building and endangered the entire town. A number of cars of corn on a near-by switch caught from the building, but all were saved except one. Sheds containing thousands of bushels of corn became ignited and burned. On these there was no insurance, although $5,500 was held on the elevator and contents by Hull & Nelson. Their loss will reach $15,000. The Carson House barn and William Reardon's barns were destroyed, together with a large number of sheds. The $20,000 depot which the Rock Island Railway company has just completed, was damaged to the extent of $2,000. The refrigerator building was soon destroyed, together with a near-by warehouse. The refrigerator building was owned by Baum & Woodbury, and their loss is $10,000, with no insurance. The loss on the warehouse will amount to $2,000, with no insurance.

Heavy Loss at Gridley, Ill.

Gridley, Ill., May 4.—Two entire business blocks, thirty-three buildings facing Center street, were burned, occasioning a loss conservatively estimated at $80,000. Mrs. H. Cohn, wife of a clothing merchant, started to burn a pile of rubbish at 1:30 this afternoon. She was called into the store. In a few minutes the flames had spread to the butcher shop owned by William Settle, a brisk south wind carried it across Center street to the new Commercial hotel, and from there it jumped to the new Gridley State bank. In all about thirty buildings were burned.

Indiana Town Is Scorched.

Laporte, Ind., May 4.—Six store buildings, one residence, the Masonic and Odd Fellows' halls and the post-office in the Town of Union Mills, near here, were destroyed by fire, causing a loss of $25,000. The town has a population of only 500 and is without fire protection.

Stop Work in Three Mines.

Springfield, Ill., May 4.—The miners of Brookside, Blue Bird and Economy, three of the principal mines of the Danville district, have struck, being dissatisfied with the decision rendered by Commissioner Just of the Illinois Coal Operators' association and National President Mitchell of the United Mineworkers of America, who were chosen as arbitrators on the "dead work" question.

PREACHER UPHOLDS SALOONS.

Baltimore Minister Says Business Is as Honorable as Any Other.

Baltimore, Md., May 4.—"I left my reverend title and my church coat hanging together on the back of a chair at home," declared the Rev. A. F. Sterger of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran church, as he stepped upon the platform to deliver an address on "Temperance" to the Retail Liquor Dealers' Beneficial Association. The Rev. Mr. Sterger spoke in part as follows:

"I've brought with me only the sympathetic heart of a man for his friends. I don't like to see you trodden down. I have spent many hours with saloon people listening to their troubles, and I know that their lives are hard. When I go into a saloon and stay there for an hour and maybe take a glass of beer or wine, I come out as good a man as I was when I went in.

"I will not subscribe to temperance, for I like a glass of wine or beer myself, and take it when I choose. I would, if I could, go to the people who are against your business and tell them to go and see it before they condemn it. It is as good and as honorable as any other business, and the day will yet come when people will respect it."

Widow Robbed of $5,000.

Adrian, Mich., May 4.—It has cost Mrs. Meyers, a widow, $5,000 to discover that banks are as a general proposition safer receptacles of cash than ordinary houses. Mrs. Meyers, who is quite aged, lives by herself in a little house at Springville. She was reported to be worth much money, and last night robbers investigated the report. They found it correct and when they left Mrs. Meyers' bound and gagged they had $5,000 of her money.

Order to Railway Mail Clerks.

Washington, D. C., May 4.—A general order has been issued to railway mail clerks calling attention to a complaint of the director-general of posts of the Philippines that mail for the province of Quebec, abbreviated as P. Q., often is sent to the Philippines, whose abbreviation is P. I., and that mail for Manila, R. I., is misdirected to Manila. Instructions for greater vigilance are given.

Wants Canada Under King.

London, May 4.—At a meeting of the British Empire League Wednesday it was disclosed that the Colonial Office has been in correspondence with the government of Canada in regard to including Canada in the title of King Edward. The result of the negotiations will not be made known until the correspondence is published later.

Mexico City Incensed.

City of Mexico, May 4.—There is great excitement here over the report that the United States government had declared quarantine against Mexico City on account of the prevalence of typhoid here. The Mexican Herald declares people from this city will not visit Buffalo if the quarantine is enforced.

Three Members Quit Prussian Cabinet.

Berlin, May 4.—It is reported that Dr. Von Miquel, minister of finance; Baron Von Thiel, minister of public works, and Herr Brefeld, minister of commerce and industry in the Prussian cabinet, have resigned. Baron Von Rhetabaden will probably succeed Dr. Von Miquel.

Train Hits Farmer's Wagon.

Elgin, Ill., May 4.—Chris Christiansen, a farmer, and four children were run into by an express train on the Milwaukee road this morning while crossing the track in a wagon. Christiansen was fatally hurt and one daughter, aged 12, was seriously injured.

Japanese Ministry Resigns.

Tokyo, May 4.—Marquis Ito's ministry, of which so much was expected, has resigned. All the ministers tendered their resignations with the single exception of Viscount Watanabe, minister of finance. Marquis Yamagata has been asked to form a new cabinet.

Raid Alleged Bucket Shop.

New York, May 4.—The police this afternoon raided the alleged bucket shop of E. S. Percival & Co at 52 New street. Six men, telegraphers operators and clerks, were taken prisoners and a large number of documents bearing on stock trading were confiscated.

Swedish Minister Censured.

Stockholm, May 4.—The Constitutional Committee of the Riksdag has determined to report Gerhard Dyrssen, the minister of marine, for lack of fitness and conscientiousness in punishing Rear Admiral Hagg for a supposed fault.

Turks Send Missionaries.

Constantinople, May 4.—The Turkish mission under Enver Pasha, composed of military officers and clergy, charged with the establishment of relations between Turks and the Chinese Mussulmen, embarked yesterday.

Whisky Famine Threatened.

New York, May 4.—The Herald says: There is a pending whisky famine, wholesale liquor dealers say. One large distillery and warehouse company in this city has practically cornered the market.

Drop Fight on Open Sunday.

Buffalo, N. Y., May 4.—So far as the Buffalo churches are concerned no further action will be taken toward the closing of the Pan-American exposition on Sunday.

Celebrate 105th Birthday.

New York, May 4.—Mrs. Hannah Barlow of New Brunswick, N. J., has just celebrated her one hundred and fifth birthday.

Complaint From Edgerton.

When an Edgerton undertaker goes to Janesville the reporter for the Janesville paper says: "Mr. T. A. Clark of Edgerton looked through the local leaf market yesterday." In a few days an implement dealer from Edgerton makes a trip to the county seat and the paper says of him: "Mr. Henry Ebbott of Edgerton, passed a few hours Saturday with the tobacco men of this city." An Edgerton blacksmith goes to Janesville to attend a meeting of the blacksmiths' union and the paragraph of the paper puts it that "Mr. Thomas Westlake, leaf tobacco dealer of Edgerton, passed a few hours in this city yesterday." A farmer who lives near here has business in the county seat and goes down there for the day. He gets a personal mention something like this: "Mr. H. Hardwick of Edgerton was in the city Monday inspecting local packings of tobacco." No matter what you are or what your business is, if you happen to visit Janesville you are booked as a tobacco buyer from Edgerton. Of course our reputation as a tobacco is wide, and that is as it should be. More tobacco is handled here than at all the other markets of the state; no one disputes that. Be it said that every man here is not directly interested in tobacco, or at any rate he is not a "local packer" or a "leaf dealer," as some people suppose, he is.—Tobacco Reporter.

PURE BLOOD

Necessary to Life.
Vinol Makes it.

POOR BLOOD CAUSES ERUPTIONS AND WEAKNESS.

Vinol Makes Pure, Rich, Red Blood.

BECAUSE WE KNOW THIS
WE GUARANTEE ITS ACTION.

Impoverished blood is a sure sign of internal disorders. We see every day too many people whose faces plainly show that there is something radically wrong.

We want all of our fellow-citizens to know of our splendid blood purifier and blood maker.

We refer to Vinol.

Vinol, as we have before stated, is a purely scientific preparation. Vinol owes its virtue to the fact that it contains in a highly concentrated state the active curative principles, taken from the livers of live cods—the same elements that formerly were found in cod-liver oil, and which made it famous.

Vinol does not contain the grease or fat that characterized cod-liver oil and made it in many cases worthless.

Vinol acts upon every one of the great vital organs, and by invigorating and giving them strength, enables them to properly perform their functions.

Vinol's effect on the stomach is marvelous. It tones up this, the greatest of the organs of the body, and enables it to obtain from the food which is taken into it the necessary elements to create flesh and muscle tissue, bone structure and pure, rich, red blood.

We are in receipt of a letter from a Salvation Army woman which reads as follows:

"I took Vinol after a bad attack of grippe, and so much good did it do me that I persuaded my sister to take it. She was all tired out. Had no appetite and her blood was very poor. It did her as much good as it did me."

BETSY HARRIS, 718 River St., Fall River, Mass.

Won't you please come in and see us? We are always glad to extol the merits of Vinol.

We will give you back your money if you don't find Vinol will do all we claim it will. Could any one do more for you?

Consumption

Is a disease of civilization. When the Indian was a stranger to the white man he had no name in his vocabulary for this dreaded malady.

Without arguing as to the curability of consumption, it may be stated positively that Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery cures weak lungs, hemorrhages, bronchitis, deep-seated and stubborn cough, and other diseases which if neglected or unskillfully treated find a fatal termination in consumption. There is no alcohol in the "Discovery," and it is entirely free from opium, cocaine, and all other narcotics.

Persons suffering from chronic disease are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter, free. All correspondence is conducted under the seal of sacred secrecy. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

In a little over thirty years, Dr. Pierce, assisted by his medical staff of nearly a score of physicians, has treated and cured thousands of men and women who had been given up as incurable by local physicians.

"Your medicine is the best I have ever taken," writes Mrs. Jennie Dingman, of Rapid City, Dakota Co., Mich. "Last spring I had a bad cough; got so bad I had to be in bed all the time. My husband thought I had consumption. He wanted me to get a doctor, but I thought we would try Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and before I had taken one bottle the cough stopped and I have since had no sign of its returning."

Doctor Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation.

AMONG THE 11 WAS
STANLEY D. TALLMAN

Milwaukee, May 4.—Eleven of the twenty-nine candidates who took the examination for admission to the bar before the State Board of Law Examiners which has been in session at the Hotel Pfister for the past three days were passed. The examination was given by the following members of the board: W. D. Van Dyke of Milwaukee, John L. Erdall of Madison; S. M. Dickerman of West Superior and L. J. Nash of Manitowoc. Among the eleven was Stanley D. Tallman of Janesville.

Milwaukee Stalwarts Jubilant.
Milwaukee, May 4.—Milwaukee stalwarts are jubilant today over the action of the assembly in passing the Hagemelster primary election bill, making optional with the counties the use of primary election methods in the selection of county officers.

The Stevens bill which included the radical ideas advanced by Governor La Follette, was too big a dose to swallow, and even some of the reformers refused to adopt such a revolutionary measure, believing that the theory could be better tried with the Hagemelster plan.

Governor La Follette will no doubt veto the bill, and the result will be that there will be no election reform, for all of which the governor will be responsible. Stalwarts were willing to meet him half way, but he long ago said that every one of his ideas must be incorporated in the bill passed; otherwise there would be no change at all.

His personal friends have labored with him, however without result and a veto is believed to be certain. The stalwarts would not pass it over his head if they could. In fact they are well pleased with the situation and the outlook for the future.
